Cool city response to tax revision requests

Granite City aldermen's initial reaction was definitely not warm this week to three suggested changes in the city's 34-percent added sales tax.

The points were presented in a letter stemming from efforts by the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, acting as a liaison between the city and unhappy business and industrial groups.

Earl Harris, a member of Community Spirit, formed to protest the tax, said that if the City Council decides to accept the changes, there is no doubt those dissatisfied with the tax will drop efforts to bring the issue to court.

City aldermen, however, seemed unresponsive Tuesday night and approved a motion only to place the suggestions on file and refer them to City Attorney John Papa.

Papa made his feelings clear the day before when the Chamber's buffer group on taxation met with the city's finance committee to explain the reasoning behind the proposals.

"The city attorney said a previous change in the sales tax ordinance — placing a $500 ceiling on the amount the tax can be applied to on a single item purchase — made the enforcement task 'horrendous.'"

"I think the viability of the tax was put into question with the $500 cap," said Papa, who argues that the city proposal which would apply the cap to a single total grouping of items within a sale, rather than item by item.

In addition, he said future exceptions could form the basis of a citizen court challenge.

Besides asking that the sales tax ceiling be lowered, the Chamber group asked that a sale made by mail or telephone to a customer living outside the city not be subjected to the tax, and that the city no longer require the submission of a retailer's Illinois sales tax forms.

Merchants feel the revisions would help them remain competitive with other areas. City officials see the changes as weakening the revenue measure.

Even though the future may not look bright for the proposals, a Community Spirit spokesman said yesterday his attitude on the council's reaction.

"We're not holding a hammer over their heads," the retailer said. "This is a conciliatory effort."

The representative said the city will be given every opportunity to reply.

Among the replies Tuesday during the council session was that of Second Ward Alderman Sam Whitmer, who said, "As far as I'm concerned, we're not going to change it."

Whitmer said "pushing the city around" might result in the revival of an electric, gas and water utility tax proposal that several industries have opposed in the past.

The alderman said the city is trying to dig itself out of a financial hole, and accused those backing the tax revisions of attempting to dig a deeper hole from which the city would never surface.

Ed Edwards, spokesman for the Chamber group, told the alderman's finance committee Monday that by accepting the changes, the city might actually be saving revenue by helping to keep its merchants in a competitive market range.

Stanley Thomas, of Jennison-Wright Corp., said he worries that his company, which manufactures railroad ties, may lose contract bids as the result of the tax ceiling being applied to each individual tie and not to an order as a whole unit.

City Treasurer Nick Petrillo said he investigated a "considerable drop" in sales tax receipts recently from Air Products, which must charge for its industrial gas by the cubic foot.

According to Petrillo, when he talked to an Air Products representative, he was informed that the Granite City Steel Division of National Steel Corporation now seems unwilling to pay a

Lack funds for pay hikes, purchases in GC budget preview

By GEORGEANN MCGEE of the Press-Record

Granite City Comptroller Joseph Miklovic gave aldermen a grim preview of the upcoming budget Tuesday — estimating a 1982-83 deficit of almost $600,000 with no city employee wage increases.

Granite City is expected to end its current fiscal year next week $229,000 in debt.

Some aldermen took the news as a sign that further tax increases lie ahead. "You're telling us we have to come up with additional revenue," said Seventh Ward Alderman Michael Modrusic.

Modrusic drew his conclusion after telling aldermen at Tuesday's council session that the projected budget figures contain no room for any major city purchases, with the exception of police cars.

The comptroller estimates an $8.9 million budget for the fiscal year, with $8.5 million in revenue coming into the city. Salaries and fringe benefits make up approximately 75 percent of the budget.

According to Modrusic, the potential deficit figure for the year starting May 1 may even be a bit optimistic, since capital expenditures are not being considered. Alternate methods of financing some capital purchases are being reviewed.

"I think the point we all had better be getting is that we need more money," said Third Ward Alderman Paul Flak.

Flak pointed to recent challenges aimed at the city's taxing efforts and told aldermen to "take the bull by the horns" and act on additional taxing measures, even if such actions could have adverse political consequences.

Second Ward Alderman Sam Whitmer suggested a one-percent tax on gasoline to use for street repairs. He said that in the past the city had been financially able to set aside $300,000 every three years to pave streets.

He cited bad road conditions at

'Across the tracks' remap sought

"We're just trying to obtain local representation rather than representation that lives across town," said Emmett "Joe" Williams, a Precinct 8 committee member, at Tuesday night's Granite City Council meeting.

Williams was speaking for residents who have entered the city redistricting discussion by signing a petition. It asks that their precinct be switched from Ward Four to Ward Five.

He said those joining him in the move to change wards amount to about 90 percent of the residents aged 18 and older living within his precinct's boundaries.

Fourth Ward Alderman Warren Decatur said he found the situation "a little alarming" when he was first handed the 428-signature petition two weeks ago. He presented the document to the council Tuesday.

Decatur this spring introduced the possibility of citywide redistricting on the council floor and criticized the present boundaries of his own ward. At that time, Decatur said he thought his ward when redrawn a decade ago was composed of fringe areas of other wards.

The council Tuesday night approved a motion by Decatur to refer the Precinct 8 petition to Mayor Paul Schuler's citizen redistricting committee.

Trade proposed—road dust for furnace dust?

By BILL WINTER of the Press-Record

The Illinois Pollution Control Board (IPCB) has adopted a "bubble" air quality control concept for this state, saying it will mean clean air for Illinois at less expense to Illinois industries.

Granite City Steel hopes to utilize the bubble approach by "trading" the elimination of road dust for non-elimination of dust from its blast furnace cast house.

Dr. John Manda, GC Steel vice-president for environmental control, told the Press-Record this week that a plan has been filed with the state to reduce dust from the plant's parking lots, its open areas and its ten miles of unpaved roads.

Millions of dollars can be saved while simultaneously removing more particulates from the air than would be achieved from an emission control plan.

Brimberry invokes 5th Amendment

Did Thomas R. Brimberry of Granite City divert funds from the now-defunct Slix & Co. stock brokerage? A lawyer representing him declined to answer such a question in a statement filed April 15 at the federal bankruptcy court in St. Louis.

"On advice of counsel, the defendant neither admits nor denies the allegations... but asserts his constitutional privilege (against self-incrimination) granted by the Fifth Amendment of the U.S. Constitution and similar state constitutional provisions," Attorney Ronald D. Stanley of Belleville said in the document.

Primarily a senior vice-president, Brimberry has been out of circulation since shortly before the brokerage was declared bankrupt Nov. 9, 1981. He is said to be receiving federal protection.

Stanley declined to say whether Brimberry will attend trial proceedings June 1 before U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Robert E. Brauer.

A 1981 court document quotes the Internal Revenue Service as saying Brimberry linked himself and four other persons to a series of actions occurring since 1975.

In return for prosecution of Brimberry being limited to a single tax felony, he is to testify accurately and fully about whatever happened to defunct Slix & Co. clients.

No one has been charged in the case, which surfaced publicly Nov. 4.

Harry O. Moline Jr., court-appointed trustee who is sorting out the complex financial transactions, alleges that cash and securities were diverted.

In a complaint, filed in February, Moline is seeking a court order directing Brimberry to turn over $14 million or any assets he acquired with wrongfully obtained money. Any funds

It's spring! Clean-up drive Saturday

By GEORGEANN MCGEE of the Press-Record

Clean up! Fix up! Paint up! That's the spring message being delivered to Quad-City residents climbing out from under their winter doldrums this month. Residents are being asked to kick out the clutter, polish up their pride and give the old homestead a new face.

In harmony with the ambitious theme are about 1,300 Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts. Their fourth annual Clean Up Day on Saturday will coincide with the start of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce's second annual Clean Up Week, April 24-30.

While the scouts are out scouting up quantities of trash and litter, the Chamber's Community Betterment Committee is hoping that residents will be picking up some tips from the hard-working youngsters.

"This is a community effort. It will only be successful now if everyone is involved," says Ray Edwards, general chairman of the Chamber's campaign.

Edwards says the drive this year seeks to join all segments of the community, including the enthusiastic participation of the industrial and commercial sectors.

"I'd like to get more people involved at every conceivable level," the chairman says.

Among others involved, Edwards said, American Steel Foundries has posted clean-up posters at its plant to remind employees of the drive, and also is conducting its own internal sprucing up.

Cities and townships are assisting by scheduling a "clean sweep" in Granite City, Madison, Venice, Pontoon Beach, Nantuxi Township and Chouteau Township.

GOOD TURN TAKEN. This patch will be given to all Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts who participate Saturday during the kickoff day of the second annual Chamber of Commerce Cleanup Week.

Daylight time begins Sunday

"Spring forward; fall back." That's the easy way to remember how daylight saving time works.

Since this is spring, Quad-Cityans will be turning their clocks and watches forward one hour this weekend, effective at 2 a.m. Sunday, April 25. Daylight will last somewhat longer in the evening as a result of the semi-annual time switch.

Those who will be fast asleep by 2 a.m. may wish to change their timepieces when they retire Saturday night.

"Fast time" remains on a six-month schedule despite some talk in Congress about expanding it to eight months.

For many, Bill 1790 tax exemption now automatic

By JUDY TAPLIN
Madison County residents who haven't moved, and who applied for the Senate Bill 1790 exemption on property tax assessments in 1981, do not need to apply for the exemption again this year, according to Supervisor of Assessments James Barton.

This represents a major change. Yearly applications have been required in this county, even though a tax protest group in eastern Madison County has pointed to the fact that most other counties allow the exemptions automatically.

Barton said the 1790 law has become so watered down that "the original intent isn't there any more."

He said new interpretations of the law have allowed the exemption for so many more property owners that it is pointless to require yearly applications.

Homeowners who signed up for the exemption in 1981 will not need to do so this year.

Persons who didn't apply in 1981 will not get the exemption unless they apply in 1982, however, Barton said.

He estimated that about 15 percent of those eligible have not applied.

He said persons who have moved should also sign up again.

Through the county's computer, Barton's office is monitoring all real estate transfers in order to notify the new homeowners that they need to apply.

The bill originally was applied only to homeowners in single-family residences, granting them a decrease in assessment level.

The figure was later increased to $3,000.

New interpretations allowed exemptions for duplex owners living on the property, and later, apartment owner living on-site.

CONCERT WILL MARK HAYDN'S 250TH YEAR
Bellefonte Area College's Masterworks Chorus will celebrate the 250th anniversary of the birth of composer Franz Haydn with a special concert Saturday.

The chorus will present Haydn's rarely-performed oratorio "The Seasons" at 8 p.m. at St. Stephen Church in Caseyville.

Guest soloists for the concert are soprano Debra Harries, tenor Thomas Sturges and bass-baritone Gordon Holleman. St. Stephen is located on Highway 187, one and a half miles north of Interstate 64. Admission for the concert is $2, and tickets are available at the door.

The latter interpretation "pulled the heart out of it (Senate Bill 1790) completely," Barton commented.

Barton said the way the law is now interpreted is bringing down assessed valuation and will cause increased tax rates in some cases.

Vic Anderson, left, chairman of the local contest, presents the awards to, from left: Connie Borror, second in the girls' division; Maria Vlahov; John Withers, second in the boys' division; Mike Salem, winner in

The students spoke on the theme, "You and I and Tomorrow..."

Bus garages will be merged

The Bi-State transit garage at 406 W. Main St., Belleville, will be closed June 14 as an economy measure, it was announced by Michael Setzer, general manager of transit for the Bi-State Development Agency. The garage has been used as a base for dispatching and maintaining buses in the Belleville area since 1983.

Setzer said, "The loss of federal operating subsidies and increasing costs are forcing Bi-State to take every money-saving measure possible for continued survival of the transit system."

"The system has shrunk over the last year and a half from 800 buses on the streets each weekday rush hour down to 681 at present."

"Indications are that we will get smaller before we start to grow again. Consequently, it doesn't make sense to spend money on utilities, facilities maintenance and other upkeep costs when there is greatly reduced usage at both the Belleville and East St. Louis station garages.

"Also, because of its age, the Belleville garage has deteriorated structurally. To bring it up to acceptable standards for continued operations, we would have to spend well over $500,000 for renovation."

"We will combine operations of the two garages without any loss of service for our passengers as a result of the consolidation, and operate from the East St. Louis garage, where we hope to have a new facility by late 1984."

At present, 47 buses operate out of the Belleville station and 71 people are stationed there. The consolidation at the East St. Louis garage will result in the transfer of Belleville buses to the East St. Louis garage, with garage personnel selecting other locations for assignment, according to seniority. Bi-State has four garages in Missouri.

Ten jobs will be eliminated by the consolidation, including three dispatchers, two bus operators, two service personnel and one superintendent, mechanic, and till puller. The mechanic and superintendent jobs are vacant.

Total first-year savings are expected to be about $370,000, not counting the cost avoidance of $227,000 that would be required for renovation.

All 18 routes now operating out of the stations will continue to operate from the East St. Louis garage, with the following exceptions which have been requested by the Transit Board of St. Clair County.

Subject to public hearing input scheduled for May 4 at 7 p.m. in the St. Clair County Government Center, the East St. Louis-Fairview Heights route will be discontinued, effective June 14. Also, peak hour service on the Scott Air Force Base route will be discontinued, and some service will be realigned on the Caseyville, O'Fallon and Swansea-North Belt routes.

The service changes had previously been requested by the board and are not related in any way to the Belleville garage closure.

Federal operating subsidies for Bi-State have declined from a high of $20.7 million in 1980, to $14.4 million in 1982, and will be eliminated by 1985.

DYSTROPHY DANCE
The Marketing Club of SIUE will sponsor a dance April 24 to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association. Featuring the big band sounds of Don Hoy and his orchestra, it will be held at the Casa-Loma Ballroom, Iowa and Cherokee streets, south St. Louis. The cost is $10 per person, with advance tickets sales only. Dancing will begin at 9 p.m. and last until 1 a.m.

Latest nuclear power plant delay explained

Illinois Power Company has announced a new construction schedule and cost estimate for the Clinton nuclear power of Station's Unit 1.

The new schedule for fuel load and commercial operation of the $50,000-kilowatt plant is January and August 1984, respectively, a 12-month extension of the existing schedule.

The new schedule incorporates the seven-month delay in construction already cited in a March 1982 status report to the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Two factors primarily are responsible for extension of the schedule: (1) recent industry analysis of potential "water hammer" problems which required redesign of the control rod drive system, and (2) impact of a stop-work-order imposed Jan. 15, 1982, on safety-related electrical work at the construction site.

The new cost estimate for the plant is $2.17 billion, an

Lecture on county's past

The public is being invited to a slide and lecture presentation, "Glorifying our Heritage through Flowers and Herbs," by Mrs. Mary Ann Pitchford on Sunday, April 25, at 1:30 p.m. at the Madison County Historical Museum, 715 N. Main St., Edwardsville.

Mrs. Pitchford will show old-fashioned flowers and herbs from her garden in Elsie to illustrate appropriate landscaping for historical homes in the greater Madison County area.

"Use of flowers from the past guarantees hardy stock adapted to the climate and resources of nature. Herbs were a valuable part of our heritage, and for good reason," she comments.

"They healed our bodies, controlled pests, provided fragrance and beauty. Herbs were our winter resources, both for dried bouquets and spices."

The lecture will include dried displays taken from the Pitchford garden, and a question and answer period will follow the 45-minute presentation.

Mrs. Pitchford is a member of the board of directors for Historic Elsie Foundation, and Fride, Inc., of Alton. She is chairman of the Alton Lake Committee and president of River Road Alliance.

increase of $351 million over the current estimate; $247 million of the revised estimate is due to extension of the construction schedule.

The remaining $104 million is due primarily to:

(1) An expanded quality assurance program at the construction site.

(2) Additional amounts of cable and other electrical components to meet changing design requirements.

(3) Enhancements to the steam supply system; and

(4) Redesign of the control rod drive system.

Wendell J. Kelley, chairman and president, said:

"Illinois Power Company has made an absolute commitment to the building of a safe operating plant at Clinton.

"Our response to the potential 'water hammer' problem is a good example of our commitment.

"No problem with our present design has been demonstrated. But to remove any doubt as to the safety of the system, we are in the process of a redesign of the control rod drive piping system.

"The bottom line is that we are now estimating the completion of construction in January 1984.

"However, we are going to take whatever time and spend whatever money is necessary to insure a safe operating plant when it is completed."

The control rod drive system is a mechanism used to control the amount of heat produced in nuclear reactors to boil water for making steam.

When the control rods are fully inserted, they halt the nuclear reaction and bring the plant to shutdown.

In late 1981, new, sophisticated methods of analysis used by the nuclear industry indicated some potential for "water hammer" in the piping of control rod drive systems during times of fast shutdown.

Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary defines water hammer as "a concussion or sound of concussion of moving water against the sides of a containing pipe or vessel."

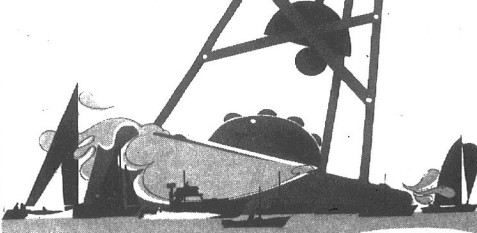

"While no known control rod drive piping deficiencies exist at Clinton or at any boiling water reactors now in operation, traditional methods of analysis cannot disprove the water hammer theory or accurately determine its potential," Kelley explained.

"By the time the industry was made aware of the new water hammer analysis, the original design work for the Clinton control rod drive system was nearly complete.

"To further insure safety, to remove doubt about any possible water hammer problems, and to avoid licensing and start-up delays at a later date, Illinois Power decided to redesign and schedule completion of the new control rod drive system resulted in the estimate of the seven-month delay reported in March."

Bad day for sheriff funds

It was a bad day for the Madison County Board meeting yesterday for the sheriff department and its financial base. Concerned about keeping the county government out of a deficit condition, the board rejected 18-2 the purchase of 12 new patrol cars.

The board let die a plan, tabled in March, to let county voters decide on the November ballot whether to tax the entire county for law enforcement work.

And the board delayed a decision on whether to require rural property owners to pay for police protection. After an hour-long discussion, the idea was sent to a committee for study.

Members Homer Henke and James Heil spoke against the plan by a fellow Republican, legal adviser Marshall Smith, to tax unincorporated areas of the county. Most sheriff services go to the rural territory rather than to cities.

In deciding not to buy a dozen Ford Escort autos for $72,459 from Klausmeier Ford of Alhambra, the board indicated Sheriff Emil Toffant should make do with his present fleet of 73 cars, even though some have been driven 150,000 miles.

Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer and some members opposed the present program under which deputies, process servers and detectives use individual county cars 24 hours a day.

A letter from Toffant said he will now seek an $80,000 federal revenue-sharing allocation to buy heavier cars to withstand around-the-clock joint use by various shifts. Larger autos and engines will be sought than the Escort-size favored by a board committee.

Allege youths contributed to child delinquency

Charges of contributing to the delinquency of a child were filed Wednesday against Gary L. Walliser, 17, of 1029 Sixth St., Madison, and John J. Nolan, 17, of 1329 Carr St., Granite City, in connection with two girls, 11 and 14 years old, who had been missing from home since Monday.

Officers went to an address in the 2000 block of 14th Street at 9:20 a.m. Wednesday, following a report the girls had been seen there. Neither was located despite a check of the dwelling and a nearby storage area.

The two were found after neighbors reported seeing the girls run into the alley and hide between parked trucks.

Walliser and Nolan allegedly were inside the home and were taken into custody. Also at the address were a 12-year-old boy and a 15-year-old girl.

The girls said they had accepted a ride home with Walliser and Nolan, both of whom are known to them, at 8 p.m. Monday and had been riding around with the two youths since that time.

They were released to their mother.

Walliser pleaded guilty at the Granite City court at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday. He was fined a total of $79 and was released.

Nolan was released at 11:35 a.m. Wednesday on a $102 cash bond.

Patricia Patsloff, 52, Collinsville, an STUE associate professor, is one of 20 state employees charged by Attorney General Tyrone Fahey with failing to file valid registration, spilling load on a highway and improper lamp or flag on a projected load. He was released on $50 cash bond.

The Illinois House voted 82-81 Tuesday on making Illinois judges apolitical rather than elective. Since 107 votes were needed to place the proposal on the ballot, the vote killed the legislation. The House also blocked November voting on setting a tax limit and on preventing state courts from ordering busing for school desegregation.

A coalition of Democrats, unions and consumers is asking Illinois legislators to separate this state's tax laws from new federal depreciation rules that give tax breaks to businesses.

The Illinois House on Tuesday passed by 106-64 a bill to allow school and college teachers to officially join unions, bargain collectively and strike. On Wednesday, the House approved, 183-42, collective bargaining rights for public employees, including state workers.

The Illinois Supreme Court ruled Tuesday that fluoridation of public drinking water will continue during the appeal of an anti-fluoride circuit court decision.

With a headache ball utilized, demolition of the 113-year-old former Madison County jail began Wednesday in downtown Edwardsville. Kanadulski is contracting his contract to raise the old structure across from the County Courthouse. The Appellate Court in Mount Vernon dismissed a two-year-old court case involving the structure, which some residents wanted to preserve.

The Granite City Park District board of commissioners held a special meeting Wednesday night for the opening of bids for the painting of the underside of the ice rink roof.

The accepted low bidder for the project was the Leo Wolf Co. with a base bid of $32,900. An alternate bid for $1,900 was also accepted by the board for the painting of all fascia and exterior wood on the adjacent warming room and concession area.

A second alternate bid by Wolf for $1,500 for caulking all windows and door frames also was accepted at the meeting.

The second low bidder for the painting project was Brighton Painting of Wood River. Their base bid was $36,370. Alternate bids were $2,440 and $700, respectively. Specifications for the project called for the alternate work to be done by the low base bidder.

No recession in Illinois lottery activity this year

In the first nine months of this fiscal year, July 1, 1981-March 31, 1982, financial results in all categories of Illinois' State Lottery operations—total and per-game sales, prizes and profits—have already exceeded the record levels posted in the entire 12-month period of the last fiscal year.

Lottery Supt. Michael J. Jones announced Monday that in the 9-month period lottery sales were $233 million, an increase of 54 percent over sales in the same period last year. Total sales for all of the 1981-82 year were $216 million which had been a lottery record. Jones said lottery players so far this fiscal year have won $111.7 million in prizes, 56 percent more than they had won in the same period last year. Total prizes won in all of the last fiscal year were a record $100 million. He estimates that, so far in fiscal 1982, about $96 million in lottery profits went to the state's general revenue fund to help support elementary, secondary and higher education and other human services programs. This is 56 percent above the profit contributed in the same period last year. Total general revenue fund for all of fiscal 1981 were $88.6 million. Jones said 9-month daily game sales were $183.5 million, about 45 percent above the $111 million in the same period last year, and $19 million above the sales for all of the last year.

On March 31, 1982, there were 969 daily game agents, compared with 729 on the same date last year.

"The significant increase in daily game sales can be attributed partially to an increase in agents," Jones said. "More importantly, per-agent sales today are 24 percent ahead of what they were a year ago."

The pick 4 game, introduced in mid-February, recorded sales of more than $6.2 million in its six weeks on sale, far ahead of its initial sales projections. Sales of pick 4 are currently running close to $1 million dollars per week.

Nine-month instant lottery game sales have reached $44.4 million, a 31 percent increase over the same period last year and $2 million more than sales for entire fiscal 1981.

Jones said the greatest increase in instant game sales had occurred since October 1981, when the lottery changed its approach to marketing instant games.

"Rather than promoting a specific instant game theme," Jones said, "We are promoting the concept of playing instant games in general. We stress that instant games are fun and easy to play, and that players have a good chance to win."

He pointed out that the lottery has changed the prize structure on its instant games to make playing the game more attractive.

"Our newest game, lucky numbers, is Illinois' first instant game to offer top instant prizes of more than $20,000, which is 20 times larger than our previous top instant prizes of $5,000."

In addition, Jones said, more than doubled the number of significant prizes—$25 and $50—and have, of course, retained our grand prize of $1 million.

Jones noted that the last instant game, Zodiac, sold out earlier than was expected and the current instant game, lucky numbers, appears to be the most popular Illinois State Lottery instant game in almost five years.

Jones estimates that the record $96 million in lottery profits gone back to the general revenue fund already this fiscal year, $39.6 million has gone to support elementary, secondary and higher education; $40.2 million for other human services programs; $7.6 million to other state services; $4.7 million for local revenue sharing and debt service, and $8.8 million for tax relief for the elderly and other tax refunds.

The lottery's contribution to all these programs so far this year exceeds the contribution made for all of fiscal 1981.

Agents for the lottery's daily game, pick 4 and instant games have earned $11.6 million in commissions for selling lottery tickets so far this year.

Jones said the Illinois State Lottery continues to set new sales records almost weekly.

Last week's total lottery sales—the week ending April 12—were in excess of $8.4 million—another record. Jones attributes this new record largely to the continuing growth of the instant game.

Q. Within the next month, I will leave my present employment to accept a new position in another state. I have worked for my present company for 18 years and will take with me a sizable retirement benefit fund, paid to me in cash. Can this be invested in my present IRA account, and is there any penalty?

A. When you leave your company and take your pension benefits with you, you may deposit all or part of those funds into your IRA, and may also be able to defer those funds. This is known as an IRA "rollover" contribution. There is no limit on the amount which you may contribute from your pension fund payment. However, in this instance, time is definitely of the essence. You must "roll over" or deposit your pension fund payment into your IRA within sixty days of the time you receive them. Otherwise, you will be liable for income tax payments on the funds.

Linkage project tour of Technical Center

By VALERIE EVENEDEN

A shift in the objectives of CETA (Comprehensive Employment and Training Act) programs—from the current primary task of training adults to projects geared to the younger population—appears to be a strong possibility in the future, according to Duane Rankin.

Director of the Venice-Lincoln Technical Center (VLTCC), Rankin discussed the Linkages in Progress pilot project for CETA-high school students Monday night's meeting of the Venice Board of Education.

The Linkages project is administered by Coordinator Youth Services and is sponsored by the Madison County regional superintendent of schools. Considered highly successful, the program is now in its second year.

It is being conducted with the cooperation of business, industry and organized labor. Fifty-nine business firms were involved during the initial year. The Madison County Office of Manpower Development, Granite City school district and Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission work with the program sponsors to accomplish projects.

The VLTCC director told the Venice board that Shirley Blasingame, Linkages director, and educators from several area school districts currently studying the local project have requested a tour of the technical center facilities on Wednesday, April 28.

Noting a drastic reduction in CETA funding anticipated for the next fiscal year at the adult educational and vocational school, Rankin said mutual benefits derived from a cooperative arrangement between VLTCC and the Linkages project.

The board authorized payment of expenses for a luncheon to be served on the day of the visit. Expansion of Linkages in Progress programs is a key part of the project's second operating year.

The local area program won national recognition in its initial year, with employers here proving to be competent and effective instructors, it was noted.

Presently involved in an in-service study survey are representatives of the Wood River, Alton, Edwardsville, Collinsville and Highland school districts.

Linkages has goals for potential school dropouts involving educational improvement and familiarization with the employment sector on a personal basis. It is designed to facilitate the employability of young people served by the program.

Noticeable gains were recorded in reading and mathematics among students taking part in last year's program, and the average attendance rate was 94 percent.

At its conclusion, one-third of the participants returned to public schools and two-thirds were employed either full-time or part-time.

In other action Monday night, the board approved Rankin's attendance at a block grant workshop at SIUE, scheduled this week, and agreed to encourage all custodial employees to attend a floor care workshop, also at SIUE.

The board granted approval for purchase of a portable backstop, costing $100, for softball games, after learning that fencing currently is being used.

A permanent backstop, located at the baseball diamond, is too far from the softball area and cannot be modified, Supt. of Schools Robert N. Vickers said.

A resolution was adopted to transfer $15,000 from the education fund to the baseball fund for repayment, and monthly bills and payrolls were approved. By Assistant Principal Clarence Hand to allow the painting of various children's games on concrete surfaces and some blacktopped areas of the school grounds also was approved by the members.

Wilbert Glasper conducted the meeting in the absence of Jack Tolliver, board president.

3 hurt at 21st and Edwardsville

Three persons sustained injuries in a three-vehicle crash on Edwardsville Road at 21st Street at 12:10 p.m. Tuesday.

The auto of Gilbert P. Baker, 82, of 2038 Sixth St., E. Madison, northbound on Edwardsville Road, turned left onto 21st Street and collided with the southbound car of Perry Austin, 78, of 1229 Iowa St., Madison.

The impact caused the Austin auto to spin around and strike a northbound van operated by Joan E. Slecka, 35, of 1227 Meridian.

Injured and taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center were Mrs. Ava Baker of the Sixth Street Baker auto, and Mrs. Mary Austin, 1229 Iowa St., a passenger in the Austin car. Baker also suffered injuries and was taken to the medical facility by a relative.

RIFLES, RINGS GONE

Richard Rey, 2101 Terminal Ave., reported at 4:30 p.m. Monday the theft from his home of a .308 bolt-action rifle with power scope, a .308 Remington-Union Scout, also in a case, worth $90; a man's 14-karat gold and diamond ring, $650, and a gold wedding band with a full karat diamond, value unknown.

Williams said it took two weeks to collect the 428 signatures and he was assisted by block captains that are part of his regular precinct organization. "I got hardly any opposition," he said. "People respect my opinion."

present on E. 23rd Street and Madison Avenue.

Fourth Ward Aldermen Sharon Perjak said she feels such a tax would be agreeable to the public if the resulting revenues were earmarked for a specific purpose.

"Then I really don't think we'll run into any trouble," said Mrs. Perjak. "The city presently faces the likelihood of a business and industrial court challenge to its four-month old extra 3-percent sales tax."

Comptroller Miklovic has based his budget projections on the assumption that all taxes will emerge successfully from any such court tests.

At a special aldermanic caucus Tuesday, Miklovic presented committee chairmen with total departmental budgets for the coming year and asked them to decide how they want to divide allotments within individual departments.

The comptroller urged that department heads and committee members "be ready to defend...and support" any item in the departmental budgets.

He said that the least of the budgeted amount which each department spends, the closer the city can come to a break-even budget.

Miklovic cautioned there should be strict adherence to the department budgets once they are set: "It's going to go to the point that if you run out of money, that's it."

He told aldermen the department budgets will be regularly monitored during the year with the help of the city's comptroller.

Miklovic based departmental allotments on the last two years of actual city spending and on his own five-year predictions.

His projections, which run through the 1986-87 fiscal year, shows a continued but decreasing deficit picture for the city.

In 1987, the city is projected to have a $69,000 imbalance in its revenue and spending. Assumptions Miklovic based his 1982-83 and future budget figures on include:

- No wage increases through 1987.
- No borrowing or additional taxes.
- No cutbacks in city services.
- No loans to the Granite City wastewater treatment plant.

No capital expenditures with the exception of six police cars in 1983 and two additional cars in each additional year through 1987.

— No "calamities."

are already offered a chance to dispose of any large items.

Chouteau Township Supervisor Walter Sparks said residents may put items in their front yards along highways and a truck will be making way areas and in the area next week only.

Chairman Edwards cited the expected voluntary efforts of SCA Service, which is pledging landfill space for the campaign; Shasta Beverage and Pepsi-Cola Alton Bottling, which are planning refreshments for the scout clean-up routes. Motorists will be alerted of possible hazards to clean-up crews by REACT signs displayed on vehicles, which will be using emergency flashing lights.

Scouts are being asked to dress in bright colors. Girl Scouts will concentrate their clean-up work primarily at school yards, park areas and shopping centers in Granite City, Madison, Venice, Namekoti and Chouteau.

The girls also will help clean the Anchorage Homes grounds. Boy Scouts are scheduled to work along main roads and streets throughout the Quad-Cities. Litter and trash collection areas will include Maryville, Namekoti, Pontoon, Johnson and Chain of Rocks roads.

In Madison, Boy Scouts will be collecting trash on Johnson Avenue, State Street and McCambridge Avenue. Venice scouts will work along Broadway.

Units are expected to clean highway entrance and exit ramps on Interstate 270 and Highway 203. Cleaning operations also will be conducted along Highways 111, 162 and 35.

'Across the tracks'

I've built up some credibility." He said current city redistricting deliberations are not directly related to his change-of-ward campaign.

Williams said he was working on the topic before and does not want it to be one of the issues that might impede its approval.

The commission said the council members "should honor the petitions, whether they want to or not."

Decatur said he held onto the petitions for two weeks before presenting them to the council in order to be able to first discuss the request with the two Fifth Ward aldermen, Margaret Nann and Jake Varadian.

Decatur commented that he was alarmed when he first learned of the petition because 428 residents might be saying, in effect, that he is not doing a good job.

"I do respond to them," he said. "I don't understand the upheaval." Decatur said that when he first ran for office in the Fourth Ward seven years ago, residents told him he — An annual five-percent increase in taxing revenues, excluding property taxes. This increase is not expected to keep up with a projected annual eight-percent inflation factor (excluding payroll).

— No major increases in the city's SCA Services trash hauling contract. Second Ward Alderman Fred "Pat" Schuman thought the city should "stay close" to 1982-83 budget projections given by Miklovic. He asked aldermen, however, to quickly begin planning for needed 1983-84 expenditures in order to adjust the spending pattern appropriately.

"We are kind of stuck with what revenue we have now," but we should move right in on 1983," Schuman said. Fifth Ward Alderman Jake Varadian said it is now up to the council to meet with municipal department heads and come up with a realistic budget.

At the same time, the city's negotiating committee is continuing talks with city employee unions. Alderman Fisk, negotiations chairman, said he is telling employee representatives the city has no money.

After looking at the city's budget, completed, each department head is to meet with the finance committee.

Chambers' week-long observance of Clean-Up Week, participating boys and girls will be presented a specially designed annual clean-up patch.

In case of rain Saturday, scouts will be reassigned to activities during Clean-Up Week, continuing through April 30. Those who need to check on the status of the campaign on Saturday morning are to call the Chamber office, 878-6400.

REACT vehicles with red streamers will be moving slowly along the scout clean-up routes. Motorists will be alerted of possible hazards to clean-up crews by REACT signs displayed on vehicles, which will be using emergency flashing lights.

Scouts are being asked to dress in bright colors. Girl Scouts will concentrate their clean-up work primarily at school yards, park areas and shopping centers in Granite City, Madison, Venice, Namekoti and Chouteau.

The girls also will help clean the Anchorage Homes grounds. Boy Scouts are scheduled to work along main roads and streets throughout the Quad-Cities. Litter and trash collection areas will include Maryville, Namekoti, Pontoon, Johnson and Chain of Rocks roads.

In Madison, Boy Scouts will be collecting trash on Johnson Avenue, State Street and McCambridge Avenue. Venice scouts will work along Broadway.

Units are expected to clean highway entrance and exit ramps on Interstate 270 and Highway 203. Cleaning operations also will be conducted along Highways 111, 162 and 35.

"lived way over on the other side of the tracks near Wilson Park," in the Lueders Park subdivision area.

At that time, Decatur said, he told them he would back a candidate in the next election from the "other side of the tracks." He said he kept his promise but the candidate he backed lost, later expressing no interest in running again.

He said Precinct 8 at one time was represented by the late Alderman Walter Nann. His widow, Mrs. Nann, would become the neighborhood's alderman if the petitioners' attempt to switch wards is successful.

Meanwhile, Decatur said he is not sure that all of the petitioners know exactly what they signed, but he did not want to approach them until the petition had been formally presented to the council.

He remarked, "There are people on that list...I've been in their homes four or five times." Decatur said he plans to check with some of the signers soon.

Honors program is getting students 'excited about academics'

Granite City school officials Tuesday night signed their district's application for funds to underwrite the gifted student program in the 1982-83 school year, and described the new honors program as highly successful in motivating students.

Plans were outlined by B. J. Davis, superintendent, Warren Collins, administrative assistant for instructional services, and Merna M. Musterman, gifted program coordinator.

Mrs. Musterman said that in the fiscal 1983 application for gifted education reimbursement, "We are requesting funds from the Illinois State Board of Education in the amount of $35,945."

"We are submitting locally-developed revised program procedures for each of the three instructional levels. The identification procedure identifies the top 5 to 8 percent of the students."

"Each level has been prepared to be used independently, according to instructional classification. Board members' three copies have been bound together for convenient reference, despite some redundancy in certain aspects, such as philosophy.

"Following are the highlights of the gifted program, along with explanations of any revisions to our current operation:

"Elementary level, grades kindergarten to sixth — A workshop was held in March and attended by members of the gifted resource team representing every elementary school.

"It was mutually decided to continue the partial pull-out format, serving students in specially organized classes, called Idea Lab, held for a minimum of 50 minutes each week.

"The present methods for identification were continued, with the underlying criteria being that the staffing team must believe the respective student needs and can benefit from instructional beyond the regular classroom structure.

"Junior high school level, grades 7-8 — Like the elementary level, administrators and teachers from every school met with me to review the present program and consider next year's plans.

"Based on the positive reports, it was decided to continue the newly offered Seminar elective to identified students as a daily half-hour lunch period elective.

"This workshop also resulted in the finalized version of procedures to be used at the junior high school level.

"Senior high school level, grades 9-12 — After intense planning, utilizing extensive staff input — including a combined in-service for both high schools — the revised version of procedures for the Secondary Honors Program has been developed.

"The program features a curriculum that is designed to prepare our top students for college entrance examinations and entrance requirements.

"Successful participants will be recognized for their excellence in academics. In the 1982-83 school year, qualified freshmen and sophomores are able and encouraged to enroll in the program.

"Since this is a phase-in program, it will require two more years for the total program to be fully activated. However, to realize full funding, we must offer a gifted program for every grade level.

"To be in compliance, I will propose that the junior and senior students be served in the same program as was previously offered — accelerated and advanced placement classes.

"As previously established, these classes, as well as those newly offered through the Honors Program, are certainly appropriate for the identified gifted students, but are available to all students.

"As a matter of comment, the acceptance of the Secondary Honors Program by students and parents has been profound.

"It is so encouraging to see students show excitement about academics. As we progress, we continue to believe that our thinking is sound and that it is worth the time, efforts and talents expended by those who developed the program.

"Recent research published by the National Science Foundation reports the number of years of study by subject of college-bound seniors to be: Four years of English, three-plus of mathematics, two of foreign language, one-plus of biology, one to two of a physical science, and three-plus of social studies.

"We were pleased to find the identified subject areas are identical to our curriculum areas, and were similar to the number of years we required. By comparison, our district plan is on target.

"With the development of the Secondary Honors Program, I am very confident that we have a well-articulated and appropriate curriculum for our gifted students.

"This complete program (K-12) has resulted from the combined efforts of staff members at every school, administrators, Board of Education members, parents and students. It is with deep gratitude to these people that I present our 1982-83 program to you."

The application was forwarded, and the procedures were adopted by the Board of Education.

'Computerizing' all GC schools

The Granite City School Board on Tuesday night decided to establish a base set of "software" materials for use in the microcomputers that are being obtained for all schools.

It acted on the recommendation of Warren Collins, administrative assistant for instructional services, who said, "Several years ago, Minnesota placed Apple microcomputers in all of the classrooms in the state. Later, as educational programs were developed and educationally tested, the Minnesota Educational Computing Consortium (MECC) was organized for statewide distribution of the approved software.

"These programs are all time-tested and considered to be some of the best programs available. MECC materials can be procured directly for $30 per diskette and additional charges for support materials; all MECC materials are copyrighted and diskettes are not copyable when purchased in this manner."

"However, institutional members of MECC may purchase software at a cost of $10 per diskette through project Micro-Ideas (Hinsdale). Districts may then copy these in unlimited quantities for in-district use only.

"In addition, support materials and reports are available to institutional members directly from MECC at Minnesota prices.

"Micro-Ideas is a Title IVc Elementary and Secondary Education act project operating as a computer consortium.

"Hinsdale Community Consolidated District 181 is the administrative agent for MECC institutional memberships and for distribution of MECC diskettes in Illinois.

"Through the cooperation of the Illinois Centers for Educational Improvement, all school districts in Illinois can now participate in the benefits available to institutional members of MECC.

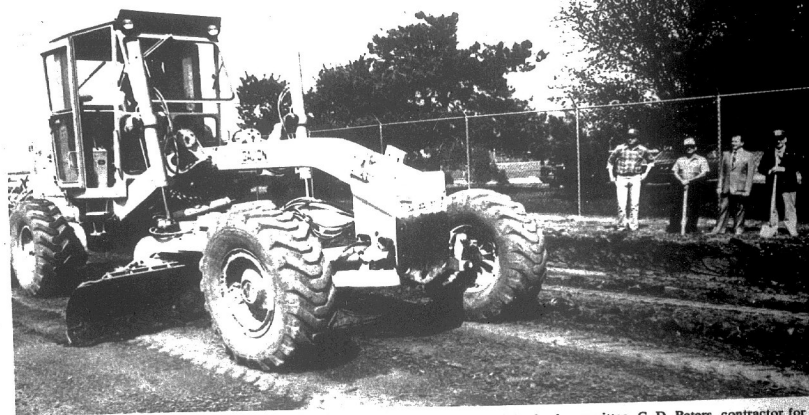

"Institutional membership status in Hinsdale MECC requires a yearly subscription fee of $50 per Apple computer used for instructional purposes in the district.

"We currently have 14 Apple computers in the district. The 20 units approved by the board will not be delivered until the last week in April.

"Project Micro-Ideas has informed me that we would not have to pay the $50 per unit for these if we join prior to this delivery. We have found that 42 of the programs are suitable for our district.

"I recommend that we become an institutional member of Hinsdale MECC for this year and purchase the 42 diskettes at a total cost of $1,120.

"Because of the low cost per diskette and unlimited copy privilege, we can provide all of our buildings with programs that exceed a $10,000 value if they were purchased separately," Collins related.

CONSTRUCTION BEGINS FOR K OF C. Building of a 30-foot-wide road, which will be about 1,200 feet long, began near Colonial Drive on Monday as first steps were taken by Knights of Columbus Council 1098 for the construction of a new lodge building, complete with picnic area and softball diamonds on 20 acres of land owned by the local K of C. Watching the C. D. Peters road grader from the right background are, left to right, Deputy Grand Knight Mike DeRuntz, who is chairman of the land committee, C. D. Peters, contractor for the road work, Grand Knight Frank J. Kierski and Ed Evans, chairman of the building committee. Tentative cost of the building 1998 are currently $800,000 and members of Council 1098 are currently raising the funds. The land, valued at $100,000, already has been paid for. The fields have been leveled and planted with bluegrass and two softball fields and a family picnic area will be ready for use in the near future.

Harassment is alleged

A call to police at 12:10 a.m. Tuesday from the home of Benny Robertson, 1541 St. Clair Ave., where several men were throwing bottles at the dwelling, resulted in a vehicle being traced and towed when the owner could not be located.

Robertson and his wife were in an auto waiting for traffic signal lights at 27th Street and Madison Avenue when a brown vehicle drew alongside and a passenger in the car began starting and snickering.

A man started to get out of the vehicle and Robertson drove away. But the second auto followed them to their residence, where three men alighted and began yelling and also hurling beer bottles, hitting the front porch.

A short time later, the vehicle in which the men were believed to have been riding was located in an alley in the 2900 block of Kirkpatrick Homes and officers questioned a man living nearby.

The man said he did not own the vehicle, and may or may not have been a passenger at the time of the incident. He declined to identify the owner, and the auto was impounded.

Physical therapist is needed

The Granite City Board of Education, as the administrative district of the Quad-City special education region, on Tuesday night ratified actions taken April 14 by the Region 1 Special Education District Board.

The special education board related that "Director Steve Balen recommended that the resignation of Diane Stewart, physical therapist, be accepted. Parents have been notified that currently we are not able to meet the requirement on the individual education profiles of the students that Diane served."

"The director has advertised with several universities and papers for replacement."

"A letter from an assistant physical therapist requesting a leave of absence was brought to the attention of the board. It was the consensus that leave could not be granted to a daily contractual employee."

"The Director received permission to contract with a psychologist for additional psychological services for the summer of 1982, with expenditure of $1,200 in Ten-County discretionary money."

"He recommended that Granite City children of ages 3, 4 and 5 have pre-school screening, based on an outline presented by Early Childhood coordinator Jane Brandt."

"The director received permission to have the psychologists attend a workshop to be held in Mount Vernon, April 30."

"The Department of Recognition, Supervision and Evaluation completed its visit here on March 22, 23 and 24. A rough draft of the findings was included for discussion. The exit conference is scheduled for Wednesday, April 28, at 1 p.m."

"The initial draft of Title I, Law 94-142, and the 94-142

Pre-school grant has been submitted. The following amounts have been allotted:

"Title I, $640 per student.

"94-142, $174 per student.

"94-142 Pre-school, $100 per student."

"Dr. Engbertson, professor, Department of Psychology, SIUE at Edwardsville, wanted permission to videotape behavior of pre-school children at the early childhood screenings."

"The members also discussed a Rand Corporation study on special education costs."

"Items scheduled for change in the current federal regulations under 94-142 were discussed by the board."

DRIVING WARRANT

A warrant based on alleged reckless driving April 7 was served on Alice M. Vaughn, 26, of 2401 Logan Ave. last week. Booked in Granite City, she was freed on $102 bail.

WARRANT ARREST

Billy Wayne Johnson, 29, of 2805 Dale Ave. reported to police headquarters at 3:15 p.m. Monday in response to a warrant being issued, alleged battery. He was released upon posting a $302 cash bond.

Seek warrants after accident

A Granite City officer requested Monday that traffic warrants be issued against a Granite City woman for allegedly driving recklessly and leaving the scene of an accident with an injury.

The crash occurred during the weekend on Edwardsville Road at the railroad tracks near 14th Street.

William W. Mason, 33, of 2430 Parkway Drive said he was at the side of a northbound vehicle, halted at the tracks for a train, when a woman driver made a U-turn to head south. He was running alongside the auto.

Mason's arm became caught on a side mirror and he was dragged along until the vehicle turned west onto 14th Street, where he managed to free himself and landed on the ground about 30 yards from Edwardsville Road, the man said.

The vehicle then left the scene.

An ambulance was called and the woman was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The incident was called to the attention of police and an officer went to the woman's home Monday. She is said to have told the officer she did not have time to discuss the accident.

Hospice names officers, board

Charles Corr, Ph.D., a professor of humanities at Southern Illinois University, was elected chairman of the board of directors at its meeting last week.

Two new members and four returning members also were named to serve on the Hospice governing board, which offers physical, psychological, social and spiritual support to the terminally ill patients and their families.

New directors are Mrs. Connie Horn of Alton, a Hospice staff nurse for the past 18 months, who recently resigned to assist her husband as the operating owner of Clean, Craft Cleaners in Granite City, and the Rev. Boyd Wagner, pastor of St. John's United Methodist Church in Edwardsville.

Re-elected to the board were Nina Millett, program coordinator and Rosemarie Lindner, public relations director, both from Hospice of Madison County who have served on the board since its inception; John Papa, an attorney with the Callis and Hartman law firm in Granite City; and Paula Nicolet, a social worker at St. Joseph Hospital in Highland.

The newly elected board chairman has published numerous books on death and dying. He and his family reside in St. Louis.

Other officers named to serve with Dr. Corr are: Roger Franck, former assistant vice-president at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, now working as an analyst with Martiz Motivation, vice president; Thomas E. Holloway, senior vice-president of First Granite City National Bank, re-elected treasurer; and Imogene MacClatchey, a teacher at Grigsby Junior High School, renamed secretary.

Other members of the Hospice board are: Dr. Shabbir H. Saffar, oncologist at SEMC and Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, who has served as the program's medical director since the organization was founded; Dr. William Popovic, oncologist at SEMC, Belleville Hospital and St. John's Mercy Medical Center, who serves as assistant medical director.

Madison residents to study in China

Dr. Alice Purdes, a teacher at the Venice Public Schools, and Miss Betty Townsend, a former Venice teacher now employed as a cartographer at the Aerospace Center, St. Louis, have received scholarships to study at the Peking Normal University in Peking, China, this summer.

The scholarships were awarded by Kent State University's Center for the Study of Socialist Education. The 1982 study tour, sponsored by Kappa Delta Phi honorary educational organization, is designed to enable U.S. educators to view first hand the social, cultural, political, educational and economic developments in the People's Republic of China.

Beside Peking, now known as Beijing, the study tour also will feature visits to Xian, the site of recent archaeological discoveries, Nanking, Shanghai, as well as the Hall of the People and the Great Wall of China.

Enroute back to the United States, Dr. Purdes and Miss Townsend will spend a week in Hawaii, visiting friends, before returning to the mainland.

The two educators will be joined in Hawaii by Dr. Purdes' niece and nephew, Angeline, 6, and Oliver, 9, children of Mr. and Mrs. Jack (Judy) Holmes of Jerseyville, formerly of Madison.

The study tour will start in June and will last approximately one month.

Both Dr. Purdes and Miss Townsend are residents of Madison.

First daughter for Hildreths

Mr. and Mrs. J. Michael Hildreth, 2134 Edison Ave., became the parents of their first child, a daughter, April 10 at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John Bush, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Koehler and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Townsend, all of Granite City, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hildreth of Tennessee Ridge, Tenn., former Granite Cityans.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Davis of Potosi, Mo., formerly of Madison, are the great-great-grandparents.

Mr. President: You Broke Your Promise To The American People.

The Honorable Ronald Reagan
The White House
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. President:

Even allowing for the latitude usually afforded promises made during political campaigns, I must say on behalf of the United Steelworkers of America that your economic performance, contrasted to your promises, has been a dismal one indeed. You have been given the chance you want, despite the untold nature of your theories.

Let's look at what you promised during the Presidential campaign of 1980 and after your election, and at what has actually occurred since then.

You promised you would not wage the fight against inflation by engineering a job-killing recession. You broke that promise.

Our nation is now mired in the depths of a purposeful recession that is spreading misery and heartache in untold dimension across this land.

You promised to attack unconscionable interest rates. You broke that promise.

Interest rates remain obscenely high, smothering the ability of American business to provide goods and of American consumers to purchase them.

You promised you would do everything you could to reduce unemployment. You broke that promise.

More than ten million Americans are out of work, and those are just the ones counted by the statisticians. Countless more have given up looking for jobs that simply don't exist. In the steel industry alone, more than 80,000 members of our union are on extended layoff. Thousands more are out of work in our union's other major jurisdictions. For the first time in decades, government has rejected proposals to promote jobs through accelerated programs to build houses, bridges, highways and other needed facilities.

You promised you would work to rebuild America's industrial base. You broke that promise.

You have adopted policies that push industrialization farther and farther out of reach. Instead of using special tax proposals directed at industries in distress, you squandered the national treasury through a tax cut to corporations, most of which is not being invested in modernization projects.

In the steel industry, your complete indifference to the Steel Tri-Partite Advisory Committee—a workable coalition of labor, management and government representatives to examine problems and seek solutions—effectively killed any chance that program had to lead to a strong and healthy domestic steel industry.

You promised you would vigorously enforce this nation's trade laws to give real meaning to the phrase "fair trade." You broke that promise.

Steel imports now account for some 26 percent of the domestic market for steel products. A million tons of foreign steel—much of it dumped or priced unfairly due to foreign government subsidies—means the loss of some 5,000 American steelworker job opportunities. These jobs should not be lost in search of illusory foreign policy advantages.

Furthermore, you have deliberately terminated the trade adjustment assistance programs which aided workers displaced by imports.

In short, Mr. President, you have betrayed those Americans—and among them were some of the members of our union—who voted for you on the basis of the promises you made.

It is time—indeed, it is well past time—to abandon the misguided economic policies you have been following. The path to national greatness is lined with jobs for people and a healthy economy.

Respectfully,
Lloyd McBride

Leadership Day to be observed

Granite City High Schools North and South will be observing National Leadership Day on Monday night, April 26, at the annual Leadership Banquet. The banquet will be at the South High cafeteria beginning at 6 p.m.

Attorney Leo Kozan will be the guest speaker at the event which will also honor graduating seniors.

SUNSET HILL GARAGE LOOTED BY BURGLAR
Burglary of the garage at Sunset Hill Cemetery, Edwardsville Township, was reported to the Madison County sheriff's department Monday. Forced entry was made and numerous tools were taken, in addition to chain saws, two lawnmowers valued at $900 each, two four-horsepower engines, batteries, battery chargers and a generator.

Estimated value of the items taken exceeds $4,500. The case is currently under investigation by deputies.

A burglary at the Dairy Master, 516 Madison Ave., Madison, was discovered Monday. An undetermined amount of change was taken along with potato chips and soda.

device at the east house, he said. Dr. Mandel views the approach as a way of providing "more pounds of air pollution control per dollar" than previous methods.

"It will enhance our ability to obtain mass emission reductions," he said. As described Tuesday in Springfield by Jacob Dumelle, IPCB chairman, the bubble concept "will give us the best of both worlds—flexible regulations and assurances of clean air."

What are the new "bubble" regulations? According to Dumelle, they allow an industry to choose the most economical mixture of pollution controls available—if it can demonstrate that the air quality within a hypothetical bubble around the plant will not deteriorate.

The regulations also allow industries under different ownership to apply for a "multi-person" permit.

All regulated air pollutants can be tax on individual cubic feet purchases of the product.

A representative of the steel company, Mickey Chetovich, attended Monday's finance committee meeting after being invited by City Comptroller Joseph Miklovic. Chetovich said he was present only to listen to the sales

"bubbled" under these rules. By over-controlling at one point, a manufacturer can under-control at another point where pollution control is more expensive.

Illinois is among the first of the major industrial states to adopt a bubble approach, and it is anticipated that other states will soon do the same.

Two weeks ago, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency announced its support of the emission-trading that is embodied in the bubble rules.

Illinois Pollution Control Board Member Irvin Goodman said Tuesday, "There is no question but that this should be a boost to the Illinois economy. We received testimony from one firm that it could save $15 million annually by using this approach."

Goodman, an attorney and engineer, held hearings on the regulations in Chicago and Springfield.

The IPCB is composed of five technical members appointed by the governor. It adopts the state's environmental rules and adjudicates disputes and enforcement actions.

The board's formal opinion emphasized that the new regulations were written to protect air quality, assure environmental equivalence and, at the same time, provide an economic incentive for early clean-up of the air.

The IPCB has given these regulations special priority because many Illinois industries need them to meet 1982 compliance deadlines, it was explained.

Legislation authorizing "bubble" rules was approved by the General Assembly in the last session and was signed into law by Governor James R. Thompson.

"Although the regulations will not be filed with the Illinois secretary of state for another month, industries can now begin to apply to the Illinois EPA for permits utilizing the bubble approach."

Granite City Steel wasted no time in responding, Dumelle acknowledged.

tax discussion. Petrillo said he intends to arrange a meeting among the city attorney, the superintendent of Air Products and himself to try and reach an agreement on the issue of decreased sales tax receipts.

The city treasurer said he felt the Chamber proposals implied that retailers "just want some kind of a modification" on the sales tax.

He cautioned that those who assume businesses and industries will not leave an area nevertheless must make a point of allowing firms to remain competitive.

Additional GC Council action -- at a glance

New ambulance rates for Granite City residents and out-of-town users will hike call rates to $100 and $125 respectively. Alderman Sam Whitmer said at Tuesday night's City Council meeting that the ambulance resolution will be presented April 27.

Revisions in the new contract will make municipalities and similar governmental units financially responsible for any individuals needing ambulance service within their boundaries; charge outside units, in addition, a flat monthly amount; and have St. Elizabeth Medical Center share responsibility for patient transfers.

Mayor Paul Schuler said he met Monday with Madison County Sanitary Sewer Service Area I and Glen Carbon Mayor Ronald Foster to discuss adding Glen Carbon sewer users to the Granite City Wastewater Treatment Plant.

The mayor asked aldermen to seriously consider the additions to more fully utilize the city's plant — the capacity of which he said "hasn't been realized or begun" to be realized. Schuler said unsuccessful negotiations with Glen Carbon now would cut the city off from all future revenue in that area. Special Sewer Supt. Gene Futch said one problem is the amount of rates charged by Granite City plant, Madison, Venice and other cities obtain primary treatment at Lansdowne.

Alderman Sam Whitmer said he opposes the inclusion of St. Clair County area Metro-East Sanitary District sewer users in the Granite City treatment system. Whitmer cited political differences between Madison County and St. Clair as his reason. He said he does not oppose the acceptance of Madison and Venice sewer users into the Granite City plant, Madison, Venice and other cities obtain primary treatment at Lansdowne.

The council voted to reaffirm its own law requiring prior council approval before part-time employees are added to the city payroll. The council must also approve the pay scale of such employees. Retroactive approval was given Tuesday for two part-time employees not hired through that procedure.

Allstate Insurance Co., holding a block of the city's wastewater plant bonds, is urging the city to increase its sewer rates to adequately fund its plant debt service, "reserve and depreciation funds or risk the 'credit worthiness' of the city."

Columbian Securities, Inc., which sold the bonds to Allstate, also "strongly urges" the city council to act on "increasing the rates promptly so that they are in compliance with the bond ordinance provisions."

GC school coordinator of insurance

Rather than hiring a more general administrator, as a supervisor of supplemental services, the Granite City Board of Education Tuesday night decided to employ a specialist—as coordinator of insurance services.

Chosen as insurance coordinator was Karen Steedler, who began her new duties yesterday. She has been a secretary in the administrative office and has worked with Dale C. Rea on insurance matters.

Rea will retire June 30 as assistant to the superintendent. His specific position will not be filled. The new insurance post will extend 12 months a year and the salary will be $16,000.

Sam Parks was hired as a school custodian. The board adopted a 1982-83 school calendar calling for pupil attendance from Aug. 24 to June 3, 1983.

Summer school plans were approved and the program will start on the Monday after the spring semester ends.

Cafeteria financial losses in March averaged $688 a day, showing continued improvement. The daily loss in February was $364.

Repairs were outlined for schools damaged by the April 2 windstorm. Enrollment is 9,897, down five from a month ago.

Dogs find drugs in county schools

Some drugs were found in high schools Wednesday as Madison County authorities stepped up their drive against drug abuse.

Using trained dogs, two from the state police and a third from the St. Charles police department, officers sought to search locker areas at Alton, Edwardsville and Wood River high schools. State's Attorney Donald Weber said he is uncertain how to proceed with prosecutions if it is verified that marijuana was found in student lockers, some of which are shared by more than one person.

He indicated that direct prosecution is possible, or "one of the guys in the locker is going to have to talk to us about somebody else in the locker."

A judge stood ready to issue search warrants whenever the dogs sniffed out marijuana inside a locked area.

Some students called it an "unreasonable search and seizure" method.

Weber cited the deterrent value, and said such visits to schools are to be made on a random basis.

"WHERE CUSTOMERS SEND THEIR FRIENDS"

Crackdown on excessive tax exemptions

New procedures to curb the filing of false federal income tax withholding forms by taxpayers claiming unreasonable numbers of allowances, or total exemption from withholding, are now in effect, the Internal Revenue Service said this week in Springfield.

Employers must send to the IRS copies of any Forms W-4 claiming more than nine withholding allowances, or claiming exemption from withholding if their wages are expected to exceed $200 a week.

The IRS will then determine the correct number of withholding allowances and notify the employer of the specified lower number of withholding allowances. The employer must withhold taxes from the employee based on this number.

The employee might then file another W-4 certificate, claiming a number of allowances greater than the number the IRS furnished, for total exemption from paying tax. The employer is required to disregard that certificate.

However, if an employee attaches to the certificate a statement explaining why the new certificate should be honored, the employer will submit the new certificate and statement to the IRS for review.

Should the IRS determine that the new certificate is correct, the employer will be notified to honor it.

The following example illustrates the new procedures:

An employee files a Form W-4 claiming 35 exemptions. The employer submits the form to the IRS for consideration.

If it is determined that the employee appears to be entitled to a lesser number of exemptions, such as seven, and the employee does nothing or files a new certificate claiming 34 exemptions, the employer will withhold from the employee on the basis of seven exemptions.

The employer would continue to withhold based upon seven exemptions even if the employee subsequently files a certificate claiming eight exemptions, until otherwise advised by the IRS.

Details about withholding may be obtained by writing to the IRS for Publication 505, "Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax," also available by calling the Forms and Tax Information number, 800-872-5400.

Bethel A.M.E. Church to host May Fellowship Day

Bethel A.M.E. Church, 1035 Market St., Venice, will host the annual May Fellowship Day on Friday, May 7, sponsored by the Quad-City Church Women United.

"The Power of Words" is the theme for the annual observance arranged by co-chairmen, Mae Ella Chalmers, Ola Jones, and Delores Vogeler.

Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m. and a salad luncheon will be served noon. Tickets are available through area church representatives or by calling one of the chairmen. Mrs. Chalmers may be reached at 452-0995, Mrs. Jones at 451-4807 or Mrs. Vogeler at 478-1528.

Church Women United in the Quad-City area is a community of church women from Orthodox, Roman Catholic, Protestant and other Christian traditions, who have committed themselves to expressing unity through celebrations, worship, study, fellowship and cooperative action according to the planning committee.

The May Fellowship Day services this year is concerned with the Power of Words and their ability to be helpful or harmful, to bring health or hurt to situations for people, the committee explained.

Twelve CWU Women of Oregon and Washington, together with the presidents of their units, representing eight Christian traditions, wrote the service. Using their own experiences in dealing with community issues, they help us see how words may create healing relationships and find practical and flexible ways to carry out programs.

Guest speakers will be two women who have discovered ways to fill a particular ministry in the local community. Several years ago, Emilie Hagopian, along with a friend, Delphine Kinder, came to believe there was a need for Literacy Classes in the Quad-Cities. Although lacking college degrees in teaching, they enrolled in a Laubach Method class and in two years have taught 30 people from nine countries to read and write English and many people to speak English.

This ministry is undertaken as a Mission project for their church, Calvary Baptist in Granite City, and therefore, they have never charged for their courses. Most of their students have been Korean and one result has been a Korean pastor that meets at Calvary. To date 37 people have become Christians, many of whom have come out of Buddhism.

Mrs. Hagopian is the mother of two children and

Energy Conservation topic of DAR Chapter

The Drusilla Andrews Chapter of the DAR held its April meeting in the Chimney Room of Burns Cafeteria with eight members present. The opening ceremonies were led by the regent, Mrs. Barbara Williams, who presented a pledge of allegiance to the flag.

Miss Mildred McCormick read the President General's message and Mrs. Margaret Belt gave the National Defense topic dealing with the respect accorded with should be accorded our veterans on Armed Services Day, May 15; Memorial Day, May 31 and Independence Day, July 4.

The secretary protem, Mrs. Linda Koenig, read minutes and correspondence from the Division VI director. An invitation was extended by the state organization to attend the dedication of a cherry tree grove in honor of George Washington in Springfield on May 7.

It was decided to honor Mrs. Donald Worley, Division VI director, with an honorarium to be sent to the state regent's project. This money is being used to refurbish the Illinois boys' cottage at Tamassee School in North Carolina.

Members were asked to submit ideas for programs for next year and to mark June 18 as the date for the Altamont meeting of Division VI. The awards received at state conference by the chapter for its yearbook were displayed—the tri-color award from the NSDAR and the Illinois blue ribbon, as well as gold ribbons for using the year's theme in the program titles and for printing the yearbook in an inexpensive manner.

Mrs. Charles Meyer, from Illinois Power Company, was the guest speaker on "Energy Utility to Conserve Costs." Mrs. Meyer said she was a strong advocate for recycling our bottles, newspapers, cans, etc. In addition to conserving certain types of materials, the problem of finding landfill facilities would be lessened.

Comparing costs, in 1940 a kilowatt cost four cents and in 1960, it cost four and one-half cents. In that 40-year span, the kilowatt cost actually went down considerably due to the increased efficiency of the energy plants and the improved electrical equipment we take for granted. Also, within those 40 years, many appliances have come into existence that we use every day that were not even available in 1940.

Turning the thermostat down at night would save a great deal, according to Mrs. Meyer, since each degree raised on the thermostat means a two-thirds percent increase in costs. An electric blanket takes very little current compared to the savings from the lowered thermostat. Of all our appliances, the refrigerator is the largest user of electricity, adding an average of $10 monthly to the bill.

The filmstrip, "Avoiding the Great Escape," which discussed energy audits and the household areas covered in the audit, also was shown by Mrs. Meyer.

wife of an attorney. She also teaches in the Pre-School Sunday School at the church.

Mrs. Ada Mae Turner, a resident of Madison, has for 19 years conducted a Prison Ministry in various correctional institutions, mostly at Menard Correctional Center at Chester, Ill.

A member of Lovejoy Temple Church of God in Christ, Mrs. Turner is the wife of Adam T. Turner and the mother of 14 children.

In addition to the Prison Ministry, she is employed by the Madison County Urban League as a Juvenile Counselor. She also is an active member of her church, serving as an assistant on the Mother's Board, president of the Missionary Society and Bible Band. On the district level, she is a member of the Prayer Band.

May Fellowship Day was celebrated before 1941, the founding date of Church Women United, but under various names. Dedication Day was first observed in 1935, and May Fellowship Day came in existence in 1945. These dedication days were rallying points for social issues and at the height of the depression they became May luncheons to share the joy of Christian fellowship and the power of compassion to meet local needs.

Because of its emphasis on local concerns, and on building peace and justice in the community, the MFL offering is used for local and state programs.

In Illinois two-thirds of the offering is sent to the state and one-third kept for local use. Proceeds of the ticket sales remain to support local unit projects.

Alongside this local concern developed a global interest, the ingathering of "least coins" called The Prayer Movement originated in Asia and recently celebrated its Silver Jubilee. Least Coins will be collected at May Fellowship Day. Many of the local churches have participated in the past year in a "blanket Sunday" for CROP. These donations will also be collected at MFL. Anyone who has not contributed to the project may do so at a cost of $5 per blanket at the fellowship program, according to Mrs. Nora Corzilius, president. For thousands of refugees a blanket is shelter, a roof between a family and the weather, it's privacy in a crowded camp, and a tote in which to gather few salvaged belongings, the president added.

History of Music is Coterie program

Mrs. Robert Butler presented a program on "The Importance of Music to Man" at the April meeting of The Ladies Coterie held in the parlors of the First United Presbyterian Church.

The guest speaker traced the history of music that inspired each president and their preferences in music. She noted that George Washington enjoyed playing the flute, and perhaps Thomas Jefferson was the most musical of all the past presidents. Jefferson not only played the violin but was a composer and inventor of music stands. He was often accompanied by Benjamin Franklin who played the guitar, she said.

President John Tyler had the Marine Band play Saturday afternoon concerts on the White House lawn for the enjoyment of the public and during President Rutherford Hayes term of office prayers and hymns were the order of the day, Mrs. Butler explained.

Mrs. Butler continued with notes that President Calvin Coolidge liked to sing and played the harmonica. In March 1931, President Herbert Hoover declared The Star Spangled Banner to be the national anthem.

During her research of music preferences of the presidents during the past 20 years, Mrs. Butler received several letters from various offices concerning her efforts and shared the communications with the group.

Secretaries hear of Rape Center

Mrs. Mary Free, a representative from the Rape and Sexual Abuse Center of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, presented an informative and educational session for members of the Madison Chapter of Future Secretaries Association, last week.

She stressed the danger of the rapist if you are in an area where the two are alone. Mrs. Free also said that our society is not as safe as we would like to think it is, therefore, every man must make himself and by all means not to be afraid to report attacks to the proper authorities.

The guest speaker also noted that sexual abuse exists in all age groups from infants to the elderly. She pointed out that help is available and great medical technology is now being used, and victims should be careful not to destroy evidence that helps the proper technicians in their efforts to assist.

In conclusion, Mrs. Free dealt with the many ways one can receive assistance in a sex related abuse problem by calling the center at 4-692-2197.

Also attending the April meeting was Mrs. Helen Giesemann, a member of the Tri-City Professional Secretaries International.

Dedication services will be held in the morning worship service Sunday at Grace Baptist Church, 2900 Edwards St., for its newly-refurbished sanctuary and educational building. Dr. Bob Jones, pastor, will officiate.

A program called "Together We Improve" was instituted in November to finance the cost of the necessary repairs and improvements to the facility. Through pledges, over and above the tithes of the membership, the money was raised and the program was officially instituted.

Many hours were then donated, by the membership, to paint the sanctuary and the entire educational facility, which required approximately 250 gallons of paint, the looking glass, and the looking glass.

Minor remodeling was done where necessary, and new carpeting and furnishings were purchased and installed in the sanctuary, which include upholstered pews.

The entire building was then cleaned by the members, from the heavenly wooden ceiling in the sanctuary to the floors. New curtains were made by a few of the ladies for the educational department, where required.

Study secondary treatment choices

The Metro-East Sanitary District has signed a contract with the engineering firm of Horner and Shiffrin, Inc., St. Louis, allowing the engineers to start a delayed $100,000 study.

The study is intended to weigh the cost effectiveness of utilizing the Granite City wastewater treatment plant, versus adding secondary treatment capability to the district's Lansdowne primary sewage treatment plant near East St. Louis.

Board President Walter "Shang" Greathouse expects the study to begin immediately. Optimistically, he hopes the entire project will require only about 90 days. Earlier estimates had set the engineering timetable closer to 120 days.

Within a month, however, he hopes to learn at least verbally from the engineering firm which location — Granite City or Lansdowne — will offer the least expensive route to secondary treatment for the state and communities within the district.

According to Greathouse, the district is in the midst of a grant application deadline race. By 1984, there may no longer be state or federal funding sources available for sewage treatment, he fears.

Greathouse said the district received Illinois EPA (Environmental Protection Agency) approval for the plan in January, but it has taken this long to raise the district's $25,000 share of the study.

Although the district does not intend to pay the entire $25,000, Greathouse said, the board has been waiting for its sewer users' fund to build to that amount before committing the district to the study.

On Monday, the board agreed to pay from the user fund any amount not raised from a special one-time assessment against cities, townships and industries within the district's boundaries that need a secondary treatment system. At a meeting last week of the district's primary treatment plant, officials agreed to be charged for the study costs based on the number of their residential sewer users, with a ceiling placed on the charge at $1,875.

Greathouse said Monday he was in the process of sending out letters to the municipalities, listing their assessment amounts. The expenditures will need to be approved by the various councils and boards.

Madison and Venice will both be expected to pay the ceiling amount, since they exceed a $2-per-household assessment for the study.

Brooklyn will be assessed $800.

Fairmont City, Caseyville, Canteen Township, Washington Park, Madison County Housing Authority, and the portion of East St. Louis on the outskirts of Washington Park will each be charged according to the number of their households.

Two major industries within the district — Swift Processed Meat Co. and National City Stockyards — will each pay $50,000.

"We'll come up with the rest of the money," said Greathouse. The district's share of the cost is expected to be about $10,000.

The state EPA is forcing the district to find some means of paying for the sewage that is currently receiving primary treatment at Lansdowne.

Sanitary service is routed to the Mississippi River after treatment, and the secondary treatment results in a purer discharge than primary treatment.

The Lansdowne plant has been cited for failing to comply with state standards for purity of water in streams and rivers.

Greathouse said about $200,000 has been spent recently in the hope of bringing that facility into compliance.

He said the district is in a hurry now to get a secondary study and then prepare bid specifications for a final grant application.

"All that grant money will run out in the fall of 1983," Greathouse forecast.

"If that happens, we're talking millions of dollars. If we lose that grant, then everything in the world collapses on them," he said, referring to the costs faced by the district's sewer users.

Greathouse said he is confident the EPA will select the Lansdowne alternative and not the Granite City wastewater plant, even though the Granite City facility was designed and built with a capacity sufficient to serve the entire region.

If Granite City is the choice, Greathouse said, he is not sure whether the city could wait to provide treatment for all the users now served by the district. In another matter, Greathouse has requested that a representative of the Illinois attorney general's office investigate the almost constant dumping of refuse on district property.

PARK CLEAN-UP completes an ecology study unit for 4th graders at Parkview School. Under the supervision of their teachers, Mrs. Sandra DeMoulin and Mrs. Carol Gendron, the boys and girls filled six trash bags with rubbish collected from nearby Worthen Park and the school grounds.

Telethon goal—heart transplant

For several months now, this region has poured its heart out to Bill Kirby, a 41-year-old resident of Bethalto who must raise $200,000 for a heart transplant operation.

On May 15, a Saturday, Telecommunications Inc. will donate its Metroplex Cablevision Alton studio to help in the effort to raise additional money for the Kirby fund.

In a cooperative effort, Southwestern Cable in Maryville will be picking up the 10-hour "Bill Kirby telethon" live for viewers in the Quad-Cities, Collinsville, Edwardsville and surrounding areas.

In all, 28,000 families will be able to view the effort on KABL-Channel 12 in Alton and on Channel "17" of Southwestern's system.

"We have provided the studio, the expertise and our staff to help make the Bill Kirby telethon a success," said Brenda Rombach, program director of Metroplex.

"We welcome the cooperation of Southwestern Cable in this endeavor."

She said the telethon is the longest, most difficult program that her system has tried to produce. A committee has been instrumental in organization of the program.

The hub of activity will be the studio in the Mid-America Bank Building on the Bellline in Alton. But the entertainment, presented by area performers, will be in the center court at Alton Square. There will be bands, dance acts, exhibitions and many other activities.

Hosts will include television personalities from both cable systems, members of the Kirby committee, and area dignitaries, including mayors and state lawmakers.

Kirby is awaiting word from the Stanford Medical Center in California as to whether he will be accepted as a recipient of a new heart. Doctors here have recommended him for the delicate operation.

He has been disabled since 1977, when he suffered a massive heart attack.

Numerous operations and the implanting of a pacemaker did not help and Kirby has had to live in constant pain, with the only alternative the expensive transplant. Townspeople in Bethalto started the drive earlier this year and have reached nearly half of the goal.

The telethon will start at 2 p.m. May 15 and end shortly after midnight that evening. The slogan: "Have a heart...give a heart to Billy Kirby."

Ask county staff to accept insurance cut

By JIM SCHLUETER
Madison County is asking its largest employee union to accept less insurance coverage in an attempt to save costs, and so far the union seems receptive.

Members of the County Board's personnel committee met with representatives of the American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees, Committee Chairman Fred Dalton said the union may be willing to revoke the current contract's clause which says coverage cannot be reduced.

The coverage, which is part of a three-year contract with AFSCME ratified last December, provides complete hospitalization with no deductible.

It costs the county $65 for each employee, and the employees can pick up the entire family by paying an additional $137.

Dalton said that with only a few families participating in the coverage, the county is having trouble getting bids from insurance companies.

Only Blue Cross of Chicago and Blue Cross of Rockford bid for the current coverage, but Dalton said a lesser policy could attract more bidders and reduce costs.

"We're trying to get the union to make it a negotiable item, and they were receptive to the changes," Dalton said.

"They'll want to get something in return, but it would be at a lot less premium to the county."

Dalton said a policy with some amount of deductible or one in which the insurance company would pick up 70 to 80 percent of the costs could be considered.

"Full coverage doesn't mean that much to everybody," Dalton said. "They could give up the full coverage for an extra holiday or some life insurance or some other benefits," Dalton said the committee is considering getting an agent of record to prepare the type of insurance the county needs and to present the county with several bidders from which to select.

But with the existing contract clause, Dalton said, the county cannot do much.

The committee has tried to remove the clause in the past, and the efforts were renewed in response to board Chairman Nelson Hagmann's letter instructing the board to reduce costs for a financial crunch looming in 1983.

"We're trying a little harder now since the chairman's directive, but there is not much to decide because of the clause keeping the same policy," Dalton said.

"Right now, our hands are tied."

Dalton didn't know how much the county could save by a change in coverage, but he didn't know how long it would take for the county and the union to agree to remove the clause and get a new policy.

For now, he was concerned with the union's reaction to the proposal.

"The first step is the unions," Dalton said. "We didn't know how they felt, but they said let's see some alternatives. If they don't want it, we won't go any farther."

EVANGELIST.

Dr. Johnny Pope, pastor of the Prestonwood Baptist Church in Houston, Texas, will be preaching on Monday and Tuesday at 7 p.m. at Central Baptist Church, 3940 Highway 111. He formerly was associated with Dr. Jack Hyles of the First Baptist Church in Hammond, Ind., and was professor at Hyles-Anderson College, which is a ministry of the Hammond Baptist Church. Revival services with Dr. Pope are a part of the Sunday School drive now in progress at the local church, according to the Rev. Wayne Muscatelli, host pastor.

A proposed Business Development Finance Corporation (BDFC) has been outlined by the Southeastern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission.

A preliminary draft being sent to government and business leaders includes the organization and operating procedures for a BDFC, which would serve the seven-county southwestern Illinois region.

"The feasibility of establishing such an instrument is greatly dependent on the cooperation and participation of those whose leadership and efforts directly affect the economic health of our region," President Paul Lenz said this week.

"We request that all review the proposed organization and operating procedures and provide us with their reactions, suggestions and recommendations concerning the overall design or any component of its contents."

Local businessman makes good in 'Sport of Kings'

By AL BARNES

Horse racing has long been called the sport of kings. Two Granite City natives, Martha and Bud Seebold, have proved that this viewpoint isn't necessarily so. Both, who were truly an outstanding husband and wife partnership in first the trucking business and then a combination of trucking-excavation and finally the building of big construction projects, now have successfully invaded the sport of racing horses.

The star of their stable, Meejay, a four-year-old, posted his second big 1982 win last Saturday by winning at Fairmount Track over Collinsville way. The other was a big upset victory at Chicago's Sportsman's Park in the $50,000 added Chicago Land Stakes early in April.

The couple's entire into the sport came about in 1965 when Bud bought "half a horse" named "West City" from Mick Fincher of Mitchell. In 1971, he later claimed a brood mare named Valley, the mother of Meejay and six other foals: Iva's Pat, Papa Due, Bill's Jay, Meejay, Lightning and Iva Ace.

Mrs. Seebold, who claims that her husband's luck comes from the fact that he was born on the 13th of (September) the month, says: "We have been very lucky, but we have hugely enjoyed it, too. You know that in these past several years (that) we have cut back on our business activities and so horse racing and the breeding of them have given us something to keep us busy and interested."

With the Kentucky Derby fast approaching (Saturday, May 1st) at Louisville, Kentucky, venerable Churchill Downs, Seebold was asked to predict which of the current crop of three-year-olds he thought would win the hallowed "Run for the Roses."

With a second's hesitation and in his characteristic incisive manner, Seebold answered: "It'll be no other than Timely Writer. He's won both of the races this spring which are the usual barometer for the picking the Derby winner... the Florida Derby and Pamingo Stakes." His decision was unequivocal and invited no further discussion.

This reporter, who has known Bud and Martha Seebold since 1953 and has had great respect for both of their judgment in business affairs, has now decided... on the basis of Bud's Derby recommendation to put a few bob on the nose of Timely Writer. I must hastily add, however, that despite my admiration of Seebold's knowledge of horse flesh, I won't rush out and mortgage my homestead, if I still had one, to bet on the Louisville Classic.

The Seebolds have two big interests in their lives now that they have to cut back on their business interests. Number one, of course, is their daughter, Cookie, and son-in-law Bob, their granddaughter, Martee, and two grandsons, Bobby and Geoff. The other interest and clearly number two is horse racing. Incidentally, the granddaughter, Martee, is the one who names most of the horses for her grandpa, Bud.

For those who know Bud intimately realize that his chief interest, up until the last several years, was his work. His work was his golf, his bowling, his tennis of any other hobby you may know. And, he was successful. He frequently took the time to help younger men on their way up. The Seebolds did much charitable work and the firm did a lot of grafts work on park diamonds and city property.

Now, using the same approach to racing as he did in business, a lot of hard work and devotion to detail, Bud has made horse racing pay off for him and his bride of 42 years. The couple are careful, though, to give credit for much of their success to several others.

One is their trainer, Steve Specht of Lisle, Ill., (near Chicago), and two others, the young couple, Sharon and Steve Carr, who runs the Trail's End Farm in Greenville, Ill., where they "board" their horses.

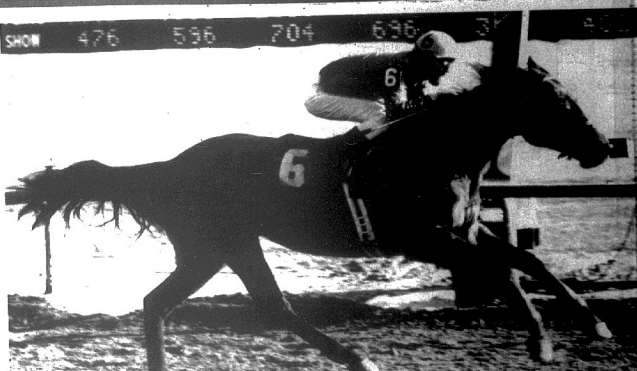

Who picked your stable's racing colors? Mrs. Seebold was asked. "Oh, it was Bud," she replied. "He's always liked the color green, so he picked it right off the bat and then added orange because it went well with it."

The Seebolds are long-time residents of the Quad-Cities: she was a Dennis from Madison and was one of seven sisters; he was from Granite City and he had two brothers and three sisters.

A veteran of the War II, Bud is unabashedly proud of his service in the Second Indianhead Division. "Our outfit did a terrific job immediately after Normandy (D-Day) and it is now still stationed in Korea. It was the only division still there from the day that President (Harry) Truman decided to stop the Communies in that cold and forbidding land early in 1951."

In fact, their daughter was born in 1944 and Bud didn't get a chance to see her for 17 months (August of 1945).

In conclusion, as I left the Seebold office with its walls cluttered with photos and plaques, I realized how much people like Bud and Martha Seebold contribute toward making their community a good place to live and raise families.

Steelers foil Cahokia for first win

GRANITE CITY — With a 7-0 victory over Cahokia's tennis team Wednesday, the Steelers have tagged the win column for their first victory of the season. The win puts the Steeler record at 1 and 3.

"I'm happy for the kids. They really needed this win," said John Van Buskirk, North's netter coach. "It's a good feeling."

The Steelers sweep began in the first singles match with Kendall Whittington's victory in straight sets over Scott Westbrook 6-2, 6-2.

Dave Lipe kept Cahokia's Chuck Boehning to a single game victory as he sailed to a 6-0, 6-1 second singles victory.

North's Jesse Byrd overcame a second set loss to defeat Cahokia's Gary Frost 6-4, 2-6, 6-1 in third singles competition.

In the fourth singles pairing, Everett Jolly downed Cahokia's Jim Zarlingo in straight sets 6-1, 6-4.

In first doubles competition North's Whittington and Lipe teamed up to handily defeat Cahokia's Westbrook and Dave Carter 6-3, 6-0.

In second doubles competition, North's Jolly and John Acousis defeated Boehning and Frost in two sets of 6-2.

In the pairings final match North's Mike Lauderdale and Dave Goff defeated Tim Sullins and Scott Myers 6-1, 6-4.

This afternoon the Steelers will meet the Warriors for the first time this year. The pairing is scheduled for 4 p.m. at North.

Rescheduled matches
GCN vs. Wood River May 11 (originally scheduled for April 7)
GCN vs. Bethalto May 12 (originally scheduled for April 19)
GCN vs. Edwardsville May 13 (originally scheduled for April 8)
GCN vs. Mascoutah May 13 (originally scheduled for March 26)

Warriors pick up win, edge Shells

ROXANA — With South's first and second singles players taking the afternoon off, the Warriors still managed a four to one victory over the Shells.

"I knew what kind of team they had, so I left (John) Menendez and (Mark) Sheridan at home," South's Rich Harmon said Wednesday after the match.

The victory adjusts the Warrior record to 4 and 7 for the season.

Playing first singles for the Warriors Wednesday was Charlie Miles who defeated Roxana's John Friend 6-1, 6-1.

Roxie Harmon had a more difficult time with Shell's Brian Todd, but still managed a three set victory 6-2, 4-6, 6-1.

Playing third singles Wednesday for the Warriors was Brian Sparks, Sparks defeated Todd Peckham in straight sets 6-2, 6-2.

In first doubles Don Kaltmayer and Bill Forest lost to Roxana's Claude Weaver and John Friend in three sets 6-2, 3-6, 6-3.

In second doubles, the final match of the pairing, South's Rich Schierling and Tom Hitt teamed to defeat Roxana's Mike Kibler and Steve Wetzel in straight sets 6-1, 6-0.

The Warriors meet North this afternoon at 4 p.m. at North.

Eagles edge Venice 32-29

VENICE — In what must rival anything in the record books, the Livingston Eagles defeated the Venice Red Devils softball team 32 to 29 Tuesday in a game threatened by darkness.

Statistics like 61 combined runs, 49 walks, 34 combined hits, 19 combined errors, 132 times at bat and eight and 10 run innings were characteristics of the marathon softball game.

True to form, the Lady Red Devils began slow — allowing the Eagles a five to two lead by the end of the first inning. Initially, Venice seemed intimidated by Livingston's southpaw hurler Logsdon, as the first two batters of the game succumbed to strike outs.

In Venice's half of the second inning, Darline Wigfall singled, followed by a third strike pass ball that advanced Wanda Brown to first and Marjorie Wagner to third. Rosie Harmon singled to drive in Miss Wigfall.

Leticia Miller cleared the bases with a triple that she tried to stretch into a homer. Livingston's throw to the plate caught Miss Miller in time for the out.

As long as the hitting was good,

Venice's Jackie Chatman followed suit by clubbing a home run to left, centerfield to bring the Red Devils to within four.

At that point it appeared Venice was gaining momentum. Following an uneven third inning in which Venice managed to close the point spread by another run, the Red Devils' confidence grew.

In Livingston's half of the fourth inning, the Red Devils rendered the Eagles scoreless. It was the only scoreless inning of the game for either team.

Two more trips across the plate in the fourth inning by Wanda Brown and Rosie Harmon moved the Red Devils out in front 12 to 13.

The Red Devil lead was shortlived as Livingston, in their half of the fifth inning, outscored the Red Devils 6 to 3 to retake the lead at 17 to 15.

In the sixth inning the seesaw battle continued as Venice roared back, battling around the line up to score 10 runs to Livingston's seven, to retake the lead 25 to 24.

With darkness a growing threat, the Venice Red Devils took the field in the seventh inning.

The inning began in grand fashion for the Red Devils as Livingston's lead off batter fled out to left field. Unfortunately the second out would not come until the Eagles scored two runs to retake the lead 28 to 25. It was even longer before Venice managed a third out — six more runs.

At that point things looked bad for Venice.

In the bottom of the seventh inning with the Red Devils now down by seven and darkness threatening to cut the game short, umpires and both coaches gathered on the infield to discuss the final outcome of the game.

According to the rulebook, if the game could not be completed because of darkness, the team leading at the last full inning played would be declared the winner.

If that was to be the case, the Red Devils would have won the game by virtue of their one-run lead at the end of six full innings. It wasn't to be.

The officials ruled that the game would continue for the final half inning. As it was, the Red Devils were unable to match Livingston's tally in their half of the inning, thereby losing the game. "We threw the game away," said Venice coach Perkins. "We should have won it."

The game was disappointing for Venice, but it was not without its great moments.

Cassandra White was two of three and Jackie Chatman was four for seven, on the afternoon. Defensively, Rosie Harmon made two on-the-run catches in centerfield.

This afternoon the Red Devils take on Highland-St. Paul in Highland. Play begins at 4 p.m.

MADISON — What's the difference between a team with an 11-0 record and a team with a 0-6 record? Both Madison coach John Paskus and Alton coach Greg DeCoursey knew the answers to that question after Marquette defeated the Trojans 4-0 Tuesday. The Explorers are 11-0 this season while the Trojans dropped to 0-6 on the year.

"The good teams take advantage of the mistakes the other team makes," Paskus said. "They pick up on everything you do wrong, and that's why they're 11-0."

DeCoursey felt the same way. "The name of high school ball is to hit the ball and let the other team make the plays and make errors. You rarely win a high school game on your own skill," DeCoursey said.

DeCoursey should know. The Explorers won the Class A state championship in 1980 and advanced to the Elite Eight last season. This season was supposed to be a "down" season for Marquette, but the Explorers are a year ahead of schedule.

"I thought we were a year away," DeCoursey said. "But we've gotten excellent play from our underclassmen. Our catcher, second baseman and center fielder were the only seniors we played today."

Paskus was easily convinced Marquette was not having a down season. "Their pitching was really strong, and they've got good hitters. All three of their pitchers are underclassmen. They really take advantage of the little mistakes," he said. Indeed, Marquette took advantage of Madison's mistakes. In the first inning, the Trojans had the bases loaded with no one out. Elzie McMillon walked, Mike Eaves was hit by a pitch, and Dave Kaminsky hit a single to fill the bases.

However, Jeff Niehaus struck out, Danny Stern flied to shortstop, and Tony Hudzik struck out to end the inning. No one had crossed the plate.

"That really hurt us, leaving the bases loaded in the first inning. We could have scored at least a run, and we should have been ahead. We just didn't hit the ball like we should," Paskus said.

From that point on, the mistakes added up. In the third inning, Marquette's Chip Ackerman walked, and Eric File hit what appeared to be a double play ball in Madison shortstop Tony Hudzik. The ball went through Hudzik's legs and the runners went to second and third. Two sacrifice flies to left field gave Marquette a 2-0 lead.

"Marquette did what a good team does. We should have had a double play there, but the ball went through the shortstop's legs. They hit a couple of sacrifice flies, and they scored a couple of runs because of that one mistake," Paskus said. Marquette scored again in the fifth inning. Tom Robin singled and advanced to second on an error. A single by Tim O'Connor and another error on the play allowed Robin to score.

The Explorers' only earned run came in the seventh when Robin hit a single and scored on Jim Fischer's single.

Even without the Trojans' five errors, Madison would have been pressed to beat the Explorers. O'Connor replaced Marquette starting pitcher Marty Johns in the second inning and stopped the Trojans on the spot.

O'Connor gave up only two hits in his six innings of work and struck out seven Trojans while walking just one batter. Madison only had three hits in the game.

"Both Johns and O'Connor are just sophomores, and they're really come through for us," DeCoursey said.

"We've had some pitching this year. Five of our 11 victories have been shutouts."

The Trojans' hitting and fielding performance prompted Paskus to work on both areas in "one neat little package" yesterday in practice.

"As soon as we swing the bat, we take our heads out of there and take our eyes off the ball. We have to work on that a lot," Paskus said.

CAHOKIA edges Warrior track teams

CAHOKIA — In Monday's Granite City South versus Cahokia dual track meets, both the boys' and girls' teams fared by a total of five points to much improved Comanche teams. "I don't know what we're to do," said Warrior coach Mel Bunting of his boys' 77 to 74 loss to Cahokia. "I can't say I'm disappointed in the kids. They really worked for this one. We're just not getting the breaks when we need them."

The old cliché "coming down to the wire" could never have been truer than inexperienced underclassmen. Monday's meet was not without highlights, however.

For the girls, South's Judy Tudor was a double event winner as she took first place in the 100 meter hurdles, and contributed to South's victory in the mile relay. Miss Tudor won the hurdles with a time of 1:19.9, and teamed with Kathy Britz, Trish Skinner, and Mary Romine in the mile relay.

Miss Skinner proved she can do it all as she also managed to finish first in the long jump with a distance of 14-foot-11, and Miss Britz won that event for South. In the boys' competition, Bunting praised Dave McLean and Jim McLean for their distance events for their efforts in keeping South pace with the Comanches.

"Both of those kids are so dedicated," Bunting said. "South has traditionally good distance people."

Bunting attributed South's success in the distance events to former coach Don Miller and current cross-country coach Rich Harmon.

"It's a natural progression of good runners. I can't be more pleased."

Bunting also mentioned distance runner Don Brown as being an exceptional athlete.

"Brown has had four super good years. He's always been at the heels of those two (McLean and McQuade) and has never really gotten any recognition."

Another Warrior standout at Monday's meet was Dan Harris. Harris won the long jump with a distance of 20 feet.

"Dan's been doing the job for us in the long jump. He's jumping 20 feet consistently," Bunting said.

This is Harris' first year as a trackster. His previous three years at South he played baseball.

The highlight of the meet was South's triple finish in the high jump. Warriors Brian Smithers, Ethan Ellsworth and Paul Smith took first, second and third in that event respectively.

The Warriors next track meet is Friday at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville when they will participate in the Conference Relays.

Granite South Warriors

Monday when the two track teams met.

Both boys' teams were tied before the final event, the mile relay. It was Cahokia's first place finish in that event that proved to be the deciding factor.

"What can I say. Cahokia's anchor man was very strong. The mile relay proved to be the deciding event."

Dave McClain, the girls' coach, was similarly disheartened by their 64 to 62 loss.

"I thought we should have won it. We really have a good team. I guess it just boils down to numbers," McClain said.

The Lady Warriors have a smaller team than usual, numbering 25. Most of the girls, McClain said, are young, finished second in the 400 meter dash in addition to competing in the mile relay.

Single event winners for the Lady Warriors were Michelle Shoemaker who finished first in the 200 meter run with a time of 1:47, and Miss Romine who won the 1600 meter run with a time of 6:16.

Lisa Adams who won the high jump with a height of 4-foot-4, and Jennie Robinson finished first in the discus with a toss of 87-feet-8.

The Lady Warriors also shined in the 800 meter medley, as they took won the event with a time of 2:20. Lynnette Williams, Robin York, Stacey DeWitt

How about those St. Louis Cardinals! What a start. Last night the Cards won their tenth game in a row. And what better team to win against than the Pirates.

That last time the Cards had a 10 game winning streak was in 1963. Prior to that, they also managed a 10 game streak in 1952.

The all-time Cardinal winning streak totals 14. That dates back to 1935.

Skeptics are calling the Cardinal streak a fluke. Many are saying their pitching won't hold up. Maybe it won't. Perhaps it's nothing more than opportunistic baseball, but it was the Cardinals who had the best split-season record in the National League East last year.

Let's go back to the original question — the Cardinal pitching. Let's begin with Bruce Sutter.

One game against the Cardinals when Sutter was still with Chicago not too many years ago, he was called to relieve some pitcher who the Cards began to pick apart.

The particulars of the game are unclear, but the thing that comes to mind was that Sutter came to the mound waving when Sutter came to the mound.

"Only God saves more than Sutter," the banner said. That seems to summarize Sutter.

For the Cardinals, Sutter was the difference for St. Louis in 1981. The difference that brought the Cardinals from the cellar in 1980 to a near division championship in 1981.

Fact in point: In 1980 the Cardinal relief pitching staff saved 27 games. Last year Sutter alone saved 25.

John Martin: He looks to be an excellent pitcher for the Cardinals in the future. Last year he ended the season with an 8-8 record. He had four complete games to his credit last year, more than any other Cardinal hurler.

Svevo Mura started for the Cards against the Pirates last night. Mura looks to be as good as any starting the Cards have this year.

As far as pitching depth (and I'm sure I'm going to forget someone) the Cards have some good hurlers. Among them are Bob Forsch, Doug Bair, Andy Rincon, Joquin Andujar, Jim Kast and Mike Timballo.

Sure, some can argue that they lack their big gun — they, Carden, or Seaver, but they can prevail with help of some strong bats.

Sports on the Run

By Al Gerstenecker

And right now few teams have as strong a hitting line-up as the Cards.

Keith Hernandez got off to an excellent start this year for the Cards. Just recently he grabbed the lead as the NL most productive player at the plate.

Adding to the punch at the plate the Cards can expect excellent things from Darrell Porter, Tommy Herr, Dane Iorg, Julio Gonzalez and Kenny Oberkell.

Oberkell. Now there's someone who has really made a home for himself in St. Louis.

Few people are happier to see Oberkell make good in the big league than me.

Oberkell and I went to high school together. We were Kahoks. In the winter we were both like fish out of water. He was longing for spring training, and I was experiencing football withdrawal.

I've never known anyone to talk baseball like Oberkell did then and I'm sure he's the same way now and probably even more so. Playing baseball is all he ever wanted to do.

For example, in the middle of December, when everyone was talking basketball, Kenny was talking winter baseball trades. Few former Kahoks were prouder than Kenny when Collinsville won the state baseball tournament in 1980.

Who's going to win in '82? After last night's victory, call 200 Stadium Plaza. They'll tell you it'll be the good guys.

Who's to argue with them?

Sports of All Sorts

By AL BARNES
The backers of a plan to hold a "Champ Summers" night at Busch Stadium in late August have had their hopes dashed. It seems that the night, Friday, August 20th, was already nailed down by another group, although Joe Cummings, the Red Birds' director of ticket sales, had assured me over the phone that he'd do everything possible to work it out.

It was to have been a partnership between the Granite City Rotary Club and the members of the Southwest Illinois Civics Baseball Club. Mark Goldberger of the Rotarians had agreed to work with the young men who plan to bring an improved grade of semi-pro baseball to this section of Illinois in bootstrapping and sponsoring the night for Summers.

August 20th was the night when the San Francisco Giants would have been in St. Louis for a game with the Cardinals. You'll remember, of course, that Champ is now a member of the Cardinals after having been traded by the Detroit Tigers before the season opened.

Many local fans who consider the American League a lesser skilled aggregation than the National League, had their doubts that Champ Summers could "make the jump" from the junior group, and win a starter's berth with the Giants.

Most fans conceded that Champ could hit and field with the better major league players in the National loop, but they felt that his throwing arm wasn't to snuff.

But, an Associated Press story out of San Francisco, has put the lie to that viewpoint.

After pointing out that the Giants had defeated the Cincinnati Reds and their mound ace, Tom Seaver, the news flash says: "Left fielder Champ Summers, in the first game of the season, and center fielder Chili Davis were runners out at home plate, with Davis' peg in the fourth completing a double play."

By the way, Seaver was making his 1982 debut and 49th start of his career when Summers and his teammates expended him.

The sad part about the possible cancellation of the "Champ Summers Night" is that such a local honor to the great Madison athlete is so long overdue.

secondly, it would have been the event around which the Civics hoped to raise much of their money needed to fund their upcoming season. For every $5.50 ticket sold by a sponsoring group, the Cardinals gives back to the sponsors $1.

Ex-Judge Was Great, But... Former Federal Judge George Moran who resigned from the bench recently, was delighted early this week that "someone remembered that I was a pretty fair athlete in my day."

Local foot doctor and former member of the Granite City School District, Dr. C. A. Hiles, had told me that Moran was, in the opinion of ex-coach Byron Bozarth, "the greatest all-around athlete ever to play for Granite City High."

Bozarth, who has heard Bozarth make the statement, he thought, at an annual Park District Athletic Awards dinner some years back.

When contacted to do an interview, Judge Moran laughed and said: "Not true, because I only played football."

To me, however, Moran will always be an all around champion.

Armenian memorial services Cottonpickin' country cookout

Memorial services will be held here at 10:30 a.m. Sunday, April 25, to mark the April 24, 1915, massacre of one and one-half million Armenians people in the Ottoman Empire.

The Rev. Khoren Hachian will conduct the services at St. Gregory's Armenian Apostolic Church, 1732 Maple St.

"It has been 67 years and the Turkish government fails to acknowledge the factual evidence by those Armenians who survived the massacre, that Talaat Pash, the minister of interior, sought to eliminate all Armenians, he says.

"No longer can the world ignore a people seeking to achieve their own nationhood, as other nations are doing today.

"The Armenians people have no other recourse. They have proved their determination and want to be recognized.

"They are a people who have survived more than 2,000 years and will continue to pledge themselves to be identified. There is a new surge of nationalism.

"The fortitude of the survivors of torture were instilled in their children. The survivors are heroes, for they taught their children courage, and to be proud of their heritage, church, language and culture. The martyrs are our reason why we will continue our quest for liberty.

"Memorial services will be held Sunday throughout the world.

In a proclamation this week, Mayor Paul Schuler of Granite City designated April 24 as a "day of remembrance for all victims of genocide and man's inhumanity to man."

The mayor said, "1982 marks the 67th commemorative anniversary of the genocide, whereby a government by official policy made an attempt to exterminate the Armenian people within its borders by mass murder and removal.

"More than one and one-half million Armenians perished, and the remaining were driven from their ancient ancestral lands.

"I proclaim April 24 as a day of remembrance for all the victims of genocide and man's inhumanity to man, especially those who succumbed to the genocide perpetrated on them in 1915."

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. James Hays of Columbus, Wis.

Workshops for weary teachers

The Madison County Teacher Center has scheduled a series of workshops for classroom weary teachers, beginning April 27 in Edwardsville. The sessions, designed to pick up the spirits of teachers, will meet from 7 to 9 p.m. at LeClaire School, sponsored by SIUE. Registration is $1 each.

The first workshop is a lesson on soft sculpture by Dennis Pluta, who will provide all craft materials. Rudy Wilson, SIUE associate professor of education, will continue April 28 with "How To Love An Adolescent Without Losing Your Sanity." The program is aimed at surviving the teen years.

On May 3, teachers can learn meditation techniques with Merrill Harmin, SIUE education professor, or try jogging May 5 with Bill Burcky, associate professor in the SIUE School of Education. Harry Thiel will explain individual retirement accounts on May

11. The series moves to the Faculty Club on the SIUE campus the following week for two outdoor programs. Dudley Curry will lead a mushroom hunt on campus May 13, and Bob Williams will walk with nature along the trails at SIUE. Both are SIUE School of Education faculty members and wild food and outdoor experts.

The final workshop, May 19 at LeClaire School, will deal with selfhood clarification. Professor Harmin will help teachers take a new look at society and themselves.

WHAT GOES UP... must come down. It is a law of nature, which Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity brothers demonstrate with a human pyramid in Goshen Lounge at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

LARGE TASK. Employees of Charlie's Restaurant, 3120 Nameoki Road, started out to hold a car wash as part of the "Ugly Bartender" contest to aid the campaign against multiple sclerosis, when four large semi-trucks pulled in. Undaunted by the challenge, they pitched in to complete the work. Shirley Ridenhour, one of the bartenders, and Vicki Bain, a cocktail waitress, are shown washing a truck cab while Al Baldwin, another of Charlie's bartenders, washes off a fuel tank. The "car wash," held on the restaurant parking lot, earned nearly $300 for the fight against multiple sclerosis.

National School of Music to celebrate its 25th year

The week of April 19-25 marks the 25th anniversary celebration for the National School of Music, 2100 Cleveland Blvd., and special activities are being planned this weekend.

In April 1957, Burel Schmisaur started "The National School of Music and Guitar" in two rented rooms above Aufderheide Grocery at 2100 Cleveland. He was there for two years and moved to the rear of the downstairs for 15 years.

"Many musicians have passed through the doors in the past 25 years. The school has grown to occupy its present quarters at the entire downstairs at the same address," he noted this week.

Since he started in those two rooms, he has taken on the Gibson Guitar line, Hammond organs, Currier pianos and numerous accessories.

School block fund will be allocated; formula hearings

The Education Consolidation and Improvement Act Advisory Committee will conduct public hearings across the state on three possible formulas for distributing federal education block grant funds to local education agencies.

The hearings will be held at 1 p.m. April 26 in Wheaton (DuPage County building), 1 p.m. April 28 in Mt. Vernon (Holiday Inn) and 9 to 11 a.m. May 10 in Springfield (State Board of Education, 100 N. 1st St.).

Under the 1981 Omnibus Education Reconciliation Act, each state develops a formula for disseminating federal education funds that once were distributed through about 40 separate education programs. The consolidation of programs will become effective July 1. At the completion of the hearings, the committee, which is an advisory panel to the State Board of Education, will recommend a formula for allocation of about $18.9 million in federal funds to local education agencies.

Speakers at the hearings will be given five minutes for oral presentations. Persons will be heard in the order their names appear on a sign-up list available 30 minutes before the beginning of each hearing. The committee requests 10 copies of each oral presentation in order to maintain an accurate record of the hearings.

Individuals unable to attend the hearings may mail written testimony, limited to three typewritten pages, to James H. Mendenhall, State Board of Education, 100 N. 1st St., Springfield 62777.

Circus '82
by Troop 7

Troop 7 Boy Scouts presented Circus '82 in the basement of St. Joseph Catholic Church. Junior Assistant Scoutmaster Steve Kusmierczak was in charge of the second circus given by the troop.

All aspects of the circus were handled by the scouts. The event featured skits, demonstrations, exhibits and a movie made by the scouts. Demonstrations were: Cobra Patrol, folding of the American Flag and the reason it is folded in that way; Flaming Arrow Patrol, silent patrol and troop signals; Leadership Corps, axmanship, rifle and shotgun merit badge; and Eric Markovich, sign language for the deaf.

Exhibits included a complete castle set up in the church basement, plus a rifle and shotgun display, fires, knots and lashing. Some of the individual exhibits were the patches and badges of scouting, rock and stamp collections, and artwork by the scouts.

Old and new skits made up the main feature of the circus, along with a movie which was filmed during the troop's last camping adventure.

Proceeds will go toward the troop's "Adventure '82" in July.
